

Manson Admits Visiting Tate Home '5 or 6 Times'

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

A prosecution witness Friday "bordered on" giving hippie cultist Charles Manson an alibi for the nights of the Tate and LaBianca murders, drawing an audible gasp from not only the spectators and press that jammed the courtroom, but from prosecuting attorneys.

However, moments later, Manson, himself, calmed the prosecutor's fears when he admitted from the witness stand that he had been at the Tate murder house "on five or six occasions."

The fact, which emerged when the hippie leader took the stand in a related hearing — without the jury present — was something the prosecution admittedly didn't know. Previous witnesses have placed Manson — or someone similar — at the Benedict Canyon home three times.

Manson's testimony came in a hearing as to whether the testimony of a Los Angeles Police Officer, Sidney J. Nuckles Jr., should be admitted before the jury. Nuckles quoted Manson as saying when shown a diagram of the Tate home, "I've never been at the residence."

Manson contends the quote was "I've never been in the residence."

Defense attorneys claim the testimony shouldn't be admitted because it violated Manson's rights, since the statement was made while he was serving as his own attorney.

On the stand for the second time — the first was when he was attempting to show he was being harassed in jail

Frazier Nabbed in Shanty

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — To his teachers at Capitola Intermediate School 10 years ago, John Linley Frazier was a "trouble-maker." To a neighbor he was "a very nice boy."

To the middle-class "straights" of this Northern California mountain city, he was a hippie. To some of the hippies, he was a man disliked and sometimes feared.

Frazier was in the county jail Friday, charged with a mass murder so complex and effective that many found it hard to believe one man could have managed it all — the killings of five people in Dr. Victor M. Ohta's $300,000 mansion.

Whoever the real Frazier was, it was plain that he had become a different person in the last few months. A neighbor thought he had suffered "a nervous breakdown." Sheriff's officers said he had "dropped out," separated from his wife, left his job as an automobile mechanic and joined the "hippie-style" life.

FRAZIER was apprehended while he was sleeping in a ramshackle one-room cabin by two shotgun-carrying deputy sheriffs. He was led away with his hands handcuffed behind his back and his head bowed.

Wearing leg irons and blue jail coveralls, Frazier, a small man with a blond beard, pleaded innocent at 2 p.m. in Santa Cruz Superior Court to five counts of murder.

He was flanked by two sheriff's deputies during the five-minute appearance before Judge Donald May. Twelve officers were stationed in the packed courtroom and the entire courthouse was cordoned off by shotgun-bearing officers.

Nodding his head gently up and down, he said "Yes" in a low voice when asked if he understood his rights. Public defender James Jackson entered the plea for him, and Frazier was taken back to jail.

MEANWHILE, it was learned the total estate of Ohta, a successful eye doctor, and his wife will exceed $2 million, "mostly in insurance."

2 Firms Discontinue Pill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two leading brands of birth control pills were discontinued Friday because of a laboratory link to benign breast tumors in one type of dog.

The Food and Drug Administration, which made the announcement jointly with Eli Lilly & Co. and Upjohn Co., said, however, there is no evidence to link the two brands to human breast tumors. Together the two brands account for an estimated 15 to 20 per cent of the oral contraceptive market.

The two discontinued contraceptives are Lilly's C-Quens and Upjohn's Provest. They are the only brands that contain the chemicals found to increase breast nodules in beagles, according to the FDA.

LILLY and Upjohn advised physicians that Beagles given 10 to 25 times the human dose of components of C-Quens and Provest developed breast nodules at an earlier age and in larger numbers than controlled dogs not receiving the drugs. None of the nodules were malignant or cancerous.

"Both because of species differences and dosages used, the findings in beagles cannot be directly related to human experience," the FDA said.

"Nonetheless, it is prudent to act on information which differentiates these drugs from other oral contraceptives," said FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards. "The two contraceptives offer no advantages over other available drugs which would justify a possible additional risk."

"There is no cause for patient alarm," Edwards continued.

"Women taking either C-Quens or Provest should continue until advised by their physicians on a change."

The companies told physicians to switch patients to other brands of oral contraceptives or other forms of birth control.

The beagle tests were part of a series of long-term animal studies required by the FDA in continued surveillance of all contraceptive drugs.

The FDA noted that Beagles are especially prone to developing breast nodules and said other animals tested with the suspect components did not develop similar tumors.

An estimated eight million American women use birth control pills. They are combinations of synthetic female hormones that prevent the release of eggs from ovaries.

In Kalamazoo, Mich., Dr. William N. Hubbard Jr., vice president and general manager of Upjohn's pharmaceutical division, said physicians were advised, "Your patients have no cause for alarm. All scientific evidence available to us indicates that Provest is completely safe for human use."

HE SAID that the company was withdrawing the product voluntarily in view of "inferred risks, however small and unproven," and "because of the availability of other methods of contraception."

The Eli Lilly announcement said, "these observations in dogs cannot be transposed directly to human beings and... there is no evidence known to the company of any increase in the frequency of breast tumors in women using C-Quens."

"The same kind of long-range studies in other laboratory animals, mice, rats and monkeys, and eight years of clinical investigations in women support the safety of the drug," Lilly said.

"Nevertheless, the company is following a course of extra caution in discontinuing the C-Quens and advising physicians to prescribe other means of fertility control that are available."

HELP FOR CONSUMER

U.S. Buying Guide Due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon plans before election day to promise release of government data on the quality of various products, including some brand-by-brand comparisons long sought by consumer advocates, it was learned Friday.

Congressional sources said the disclosure program — bitterly opposed by business groups — will be announced prior to the Nov. 3 elections in hopes of helping Republican candidates.

ADMINISTRATION officials who confirmed the President's plans said the information to be made public would cover new cars and tires among other products. But they said most of the data would give consumers quality guidelines rather than brand-by-brand ratings.

In other words, although the information would not tell buyers a Ford is better than a Chevrolet or vice versa, it would provide the government's own criteria for purchasing cars and a performance breakdown.

Or in the roofing field, the government knows from building its own facilities that certain materials have worked best in various sections of the nation. Under Nixon's plan, this information would be translated from technical to everyday language that a homeowner could understand.

BUT H. A. Abersfeller, the chief government purchasing agent in his role as commissioner of the General Services Administration's Federal Supply Service, told UPI in an interview that the government does not buy too many brand name products.

"Most of the companies we buy from don't make consumer products," Abersfeller said. "The brand name information available in government is very, very slim."

The same conclusion was reached several years ago by a federal commission that studied the problem for the Johnson Administration.

The panel, headed by President Johnson's consumer adviser, Betty Furness, reported that "the total number of products about which the government now has brand information is extremely small."

THE PROGRAM to be announced was drawn up by Mrs. Virginia Knauer, Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, in consultation with governmental agencies which buy products commonly sold to the public as well.

Chief among these agencies are the GSA, which also takes care of government buildings, the Defense Department, and the National Bureau of Standards, which sometimes runs tests for government purchases.

Mideast Peace Bid Renewed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Big Four foreign ministers agreed Friday night to seek renewal of U.N. Arab-Israeli peace talks, continuance of the Egyptian-Israeli cease-fire and permanent Mideast peace settlement.

Secretary-General U. Thant made the announcement at the U.N. after British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home, Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union and Maurice Schumann of France; and Secretary of State William Rogers met for more than 3 1/2 hours in Thant's suite

DRIZZLE TO VANISH AFTER NOON

The Long Beach area will be dampened by a light drizzle this morning, according to a spokesman for the Weather Bureau, but a slow clearing will set in this afternoon, leaving the area with some weekend sunshine — and cold temperatures.

The cloud cover will remain over the Long Beach area through this evening, the spokesman said, but Sunday should dawn clear.

The spokesman predicted that temperatures will struggle to get past the 70 mark, with today's high forecast at about 66.

RETURNING LOST HOUR

Tonight is the night. Don't forget to turn your clock back one hour before retiring. At 2 a.m. Sunday, daylight saving time will officially end and the nation will return to standard time. It will then officially be 1 a.m., and you will regain the extra hour you lost when daylight saving time went into effect.

Standard time will remain in effect until the last Sunday in April 1971, when daylight time goes into effect again in those states that do not specifically reject it. (Picture, Page B-1.)

Taxing Reading

Q. If you purchase a monthly magazine at a news stand, no sales tax is charged. But if you buy a quarterly publication like Nevada or Automobile Quarterly, sales tax is charged. Can ACTION LINE find out why. M.D.H., Whittier.

A. A periodical published at least every three months should be exempt from sales tax, according to Margaret Shoo of the State Board of Equalization. "However, there are other conditions for exemption. The publication must be considered to be of interest to the general public or a large segment of the general public and cannot be principally an advertising periodical. The issues must carry news-type stories and there should be some continuity, from issue to issue in order for the magazine to be free from sales tax."

Where the Hair Is Short

Q. I heard that the Long Beach Police Officers Association recently petitioned the police administration for a more relaxed hair regulation, like the ones recently adopted by the Los Angeles Police Department and branches of the U.S. armed forces. I also understand the Long Beach police administration turned this request down. Can ACTION LINE find out why? D.E.V., Long Beach.

have enough hair to wear styled. Also, we petitioned for permission to wear mustaches, and this request also was denied. The petition indicated that officers would agree that the mustache should not cover the lip, extend beyond the corners of the mouth or connect with any sideburns. Right now hair codes like the one we suggested are in effect in the Los Angeles and Torrance police departments, the Highway Patrol and several other local agencies." Deputy Chief Ralph G. Kortz told ACTION LINE the request had been denied because "we just don't see any need to relax hair regulations. We have never allowed mustaches on this department and don't feel we should allow them now. The officers are already allowed to wear sideburns, not extending below the bottom of the ear opening."

Miller Guilty of $250,000 Kidnaping

A former government intelligence agent was convicted in Los Angeles Friday of kidnaping an 11-year-old boy in 1967 for a quarter of a million dollars ransom.

The cash, paid in 2,500 bills of $100 each, has never been found. The prosecution contended it was stashed in a Swiss bank. At the time, the sum was the largest ransom ever paid for the safe return of a kidnap victim.

Ronald Lee Miller, 39, who at the time of the kidnaping was an intelligence agent for the Internal Revenue Service, was convicted of kidnaping with bodily harm by a jury of eight women and four men which deliberated for one and a half days.

The state said it would seek the death penalty in the sentencing phase of the trial which begins Monday. Under California's "Little Lindbergh"

RONALD LEE MILLER
Death Penalty to Be Asked

law, capital punishment is allowed if a kidnaping involves death or injury.

THE BOY, who suffered bruises, was freed three days after the abduction and after the money was paid. He was released in a Santa Monica garage eight hours after the ransom was handed over.

Miller, a distinguished looking man with a gray-tinged goatee, was indicted by a grand jury three days short of the third anniversary of the crime, and the statute of limitations deadline for prosecution.

Miller showed little emotion, but later in the lock-read, but later in the lock-up room, he lost his composure and burst into tears, said his attorney, Richard A. Walton.

When Miller was arrested, hundreds of fake mustaches, wigs and even artificial scars were found in his condominium apartment. The FBI reportedly zeroed in on him as a suspect when he was charged with robbing a market and a theater last fall.

The kidnap victim was Kenneth John Young, son of Herbert J. Young of Beverly Hills, the wealthy president of Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association.

SOMETIME after midnight April 2, 1967, the kidnaper stole into Kenneth's bedroom, awakened him, rapped him on the head four times, and warned, "If you shout, I'll kill you." He left a note that the boy would be "vindictively destroyed" if authorities were notified.

But the elder Young called the Beverly Hills police, who are known for their discretion with the wealthy and well-known. They kept the secret for three days until the story broke in the news media.

During that time, Kenneth was lashed to a bed with two wires taped to his legs and two to his wrist. The wires were connected to a black box over the door.

"If you yell out, or if anyone comes in except me, 115 volts will go through your body," the kidnaper warned the boy.

Kenneth's father borrowed the ransom money from the Beverly Hills National Bank, using stocks as collateral, and made the payment to a man with an olive complexion and a raspy voice.

The drop was made on a lonely road in the Santa Monica Mountains. Authorities said the kidnaper may have chosen the stop because short wave radio communications are poor in the area.

The key prosecution witness against Miller was Eugene Patterson, who testified that he acted as a lookout the night of the kidnaping. The prosecution believes a third man also was involved who still is at large.

It Arrested in $3-Million Drug Haul

SANTA MONICA — Federal Narcotics agents seized drugs with a retail value they estimated at more than $3 million Friday and arrested 11 persons in San Francisco and Santa Monica. They called it the biggest LSD confiscation in the nation's history.

Daniel Addario, special agent in charge of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs here, said the raids were staged by about 60 federal narcotics agents accompanied by local police.

Wholesale value of the drugs purchased and seized—LSD, PCO phenylethylamine hydrochloride and others, was more than $300,000, Addario said.

The coordinated raids also resulted in seizure of a hallucinogenic drug manufacturing operation at Vortex Laboratories in Santa Monica and a similar plant and tabletting operation in Berkeley.

Santa Ana Man Killed in Crash

A Santa Ana motorist died Friday after a two-car collision at 4th Street and Flower Avenue in Santa Ana, according to police.

John Robert Monroe, 38, of 719 E. Pomona Ave., died of head and internal injuries at Santa Ana Community Hospital, about three hours after the early morning accident.

FBI Seeks Suspect Caught in Burglary Ring Roundup

By NOEL SWANN
Staff Writer

The FBI has asked Signal Hill police to put a hold on one of four men rounded up Friday in the smashing of a burglary ring which police say operated in Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

Police said the man, Leonard L. Perras, 49, a transient, had been sought by federal agents on warrants ranging from smuggling to unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Police recovered more than $25,000 worth of loot in the roundup, including watches, jewelry, coin collections and a wide range of manufacturers' supplies.

A POLICE spokesman said the loot was stacked three feet high in a former club building next to the Signal Hill station. He said the range of items recovered was so varied "that I believe we'll solve countless burglaries when the whole mess is sorted out."

The three others arrested in the roundup were Harold Jack Mendes, 56, 12312 Bombardier Ave., Norwalk, and Long Beach residents, James Edward Warring, 22, 2336 Baltic Ave. and Terry Lee Menser, 20, 940 New York Ave. All four were booked on suspicion of burglary.

Police also were seeking a fifth suspect in the case. Menser and Perras were arrested by Detectives Robert Deeley and Frank Palakin at a house at 7412 Century Blvd., Paramount, at the conclusion of a "deal" in which the officers, posing as representatives of a Los Angeles company, had agreed to purchase 84 garbage disposals taken during the $20,000 burglary of a Signal Hill firm two weeks ago, police said.

Warring was arrested at Signal Hill police headquarters later when he went there to inquire about Menser and Perras, police added.

MENDES was picked up later in Norwalk. Detectives said the loot was recovered from the Paramount house where the undercover deal took place.

Detectives said at least $10,000 worth of recovered items had been taken in the burglary of Golden West Pipe & Supply Co., 1908 Freeman Ave., Signal Hill.

First break in the case came when detectives were contacted by the owner of a Los Angeles pipe and supply company, who said he had been contacted by a man wanting to sell garbage disposals at a price much less than wholesale.

The man gave him the brand name of the disposals, the Los Angeles man said, and he contacted the manufacturer's Los Angeles distributor, who mentioned the Signal Hill burglary.

After contacting police the supply store owner telephoned the suspect and set up an appointment with Palakin and Deeley for purchase of the disposals for $2,000, detectives said.

Hot Dog Sales Fraud Figure Held

A Newport Beach man accused of defrauding investors of a half million dollars by setting up a dummy corporation to sell hot dog vending machines was arrested Friday in Phoenix, Ariz.

He was identified as Gregorios Pavlou, 41, a citizen of Greece, who is under indictment by the Orange County grand jury on four counts of grand theft, six counts of fraudulently issuing stock and three counts of scheming to defraud investors.

PAVLOU, known as Gregory Busch in Newport Beach, set up a corporation in Costa Mesa called Mido Inc., allegedly to produce a hot dog vending machine, according to District Attorney Alphonsus C. Novick.

A manufacturing plant there made one prototype machine, Novick said, and with that machine Pavlou allegedly sold stock to "hundreds" of investors.

Novick said most investments were for a few hundred dollars each, but one was for $80,000.

2ND L.B. RECALL UNIT FORMED

A second organization, the Citizens for Recall, was launched Friday to work for the recall of four Long Beach city councilmen.

It was formed by leaders of the Community for New Politics, which was expelled Monday from the Long Beach Recall Committee, a conglomerate of citizens' groups attempting to recall Councilmen Bert Bond, Paul Deats, Ted Cruchley and Russell Rubley.

"Citizens for Recall was formed to allow independent citizens throughout the city — people not affiliated with existing groups — to become actively involved in the campaign," said Saul Stolzberg, chairman of CNP and the new group.

He charged that the original group, the Long Beach Recall Committee, was being run "in a dictatorial fashion" by its chairman, Mrs. Jo Ann Richards.

Mrs. Richards accused Stolzberg of trying to "take over" the Recall Committee and said her group was operating according to "ground rules" set up in its original meeting.

The Community for New Politics was one of 11 groups involved in the Recall Committee.

Stolzberg said offices for Citizens for Recall and CNP, at 1100 E. Seventh St., will be open Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon, weekday evenings from 7 to 11 p.m., and weekends from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. for persons wishing to sign petitions, or turn them in and have them notarized.

Trim

Q. For over a year, we have called the Garden Grove City Hall, trying to get someone out here to trim the palm trees on Stratford Way. The fronds hang down so far that our cars have been scratched and children riding their bikes are often poked in the eyes. Can ACTION LINE help us get the trees trimmed? W.R.K., Garden Grove.

Q. A row of trees at the corner of Barclay Drive and Katella Avenue in Garden Grove is in desperate need of a trim. As you drive up Barclay, to turn left onto Katella, the trees block vision so that it is very difficult to spot oncoming traffic on Katella. Can ACTION LINE help some worried drivers? Mrs. G.W., Santa Ana.

A. The palm trees on Stratford Way and the row of trees on Barclay Drive will soon be trimmed, according to a spokesman for the Garden Grove Recreation and Park Department. "We are terribly behind in our work, mostly because of last spring's heavy winds and various equipment failures in the department. We are trying to get the trimming done as quickly as possible." Requests for tree trimming should be directed to Recreation and Park Dept., Garden Grove City Hall, 11391 Acacia Ave., Garden Grove, (714) 537-4200.

SOUND OFF!

Why is the student in the Long Beach school system who carries his lunch discriminated against? He must eat outside exposed to the sun and wind while the student who buys his lunch eats inside. When the lunch-carrying student reaches junior high, his predicament worsens. He no longer has a table to eat at. He must straddle a bench — and he often has to wait even for these accommodations. If we can spend our tax dollars to accommodate the student who buys his lunch, why can't we spend equally on the lunch toter? They could use a roofed-over area with wind breakers around it. Even tables would be nice. Another alternative would be to hire a few mothers over the lunch period to supervise a few rooms where the students could eat their lunch. Don't think these students wouldn't like to see some improvement. E.L., Lakewood.

Finch, Blount Due at Stamp Ceremony

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

A host of officials, including presidential aide Robert Finch and Postmaster General Winton M.

Blount, will attend a ceremony Wednesday at the Western White House in San Clemente when four new stamps are introduced.

The stamps are an "anti-pollution" series designed to make Americans aware of ecological problems, according to Blount. He will detail the campaign at a press conference at San Clemente at 10 a.m.

Finch, who was California's lieutenant governor before President Nixon named him secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, will speak at a ceremony slated for 11 a.m.

Attending the ceremony will be Russell Train, of the presidential Environmental Quality Council; David L. Baker of Garden Grove, chairman of California's Environmental Quality Control Council, and Kerry Mulligan, chairman of the California Water Resources Board.

The affair, organized by the San Clemente Dons, a host group of the San Clemente Chamber of Commerce, is expected to draw 800 persons, according to Robert Gannon, chairman of the Dons.

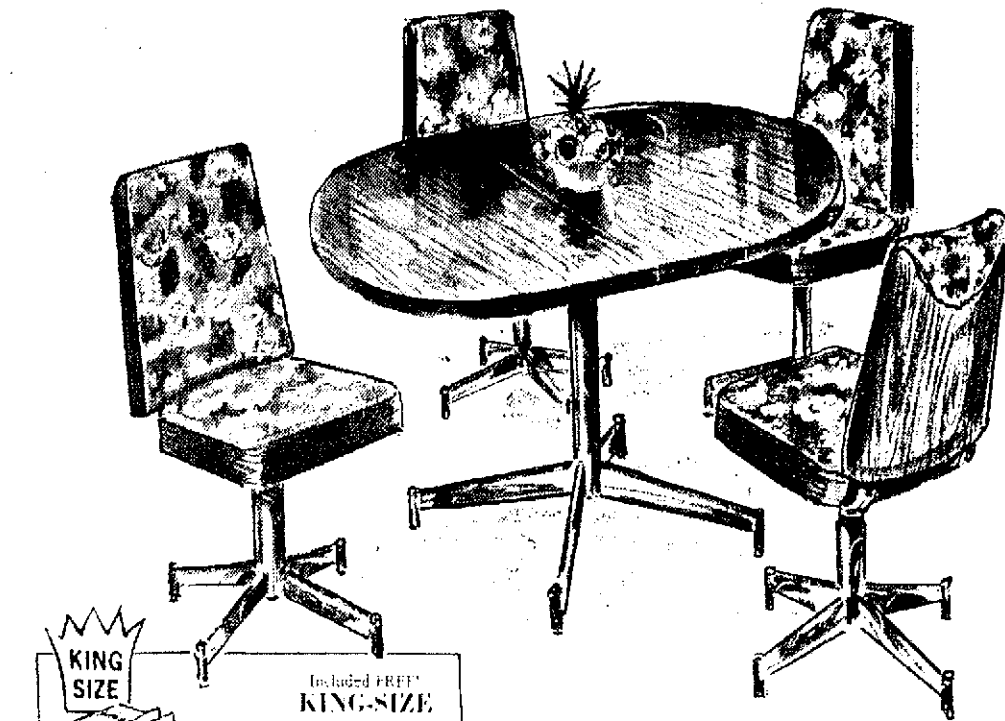

But only 200 will be guests at a luncheon at San Clemente Inn. That's the capacity of the dining room.

FRAZIER'S CHAOTIC BACKGROUND

as a "dropout", a hippie disliked by other hippies, whose shack was within sight of the $300,000 home where Ohta, his wife, two sons and secretary were tied up, shot to death Monday night and dumped in the swimming pool.

The killer then set the home on fire and escaped in Mrs. Ohta's station wagon, leaving a chilling note signed by characters in medieval fortune-telling cards and declaring "World War III" on those who "misuse the environment."

Acquaintances described FRAZIER had lived in the cabin for several months before the killing, officers said, but this was the first time he had returned to it since he was named the suspect two days ago.

Although the sheriff said there was no resistance, a reporter for the San Jose News, David Johnston, 24, who reached the scene as Frazier was being led away, said he heard 12 to 15 shots echo through the valley.

Less than two hours after the capture, Ohta, his wife Virginia, 41; and his sons Richard Derrick, 12; and Victor Taggart, 11, were buried after a Roman Catholic requiem mass.

"If this age, this 1970, has one catchword, it is hostility," the Rev. Fr. William Scully told mourners at Holy Cross Church in Santa Cruz. "Fashions parade, the pleasures of sex fill our ears, TV amuses and entertains, yet all is shabbiness."

The secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Cadwallader, 38, was buried Thursday.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang credited "tremendous help" from the hundreds of hippies who live around Santa Cruz in the investigation and capture.

HE SAID Frazier's estranged wife, who helped him move out of his shack two days before the killing, and close friends of the former mechanic also helped in constructing the case.

Frazier's shack is at the end of a private road. It is about a half mile hike through thick brush and poison oak to the Ohta home, and Frazier could see it towering above him every day in the months he lived there.

The savage killing had shocked both hippies and "straights" in the wild and beautiful redwood forests along California's spectacular northern coastline. The two groups had previously gotten along with varying degrees of success, but the killing so stunned the area that sheriff's officers at one point had appealed to the community not to take the law into its own hands.

"The investigating officers who went into the hippie communities found tremendous help from the hippie-type people," Chang said. "They were equally stunned and equally revolted by the crime."

Earlier officers had been looking for three young people "in their early 20s" with long hair, seen several times near or in the Ohta green Oldsmobile station wagon.

THE STATION wagon was driven into a railroad tunnel 15 miles from the scene Tuesday evening, set afire and abandoned. Three sets of "barefoot" footprints were later found by a riverbank near the tunnel.

But on Thursday, officers identified Frazier, who also went by the name of "Pascal," as the prime suspect. On Thursday night, Chang charged him with murder.

It had previously been believed that one killer could not have managed so many murders by himself.

MANSON 'ALIBI'

— Manson said that although he didn't remember when the conversation happened — "I don't know March from December" — he recalled that Deputy District Attorney Aaron Stovitz, attorney Daye Shinn, Nuckles and he were present.

"We were talking about someone coming in a rear window of the house and I said, 'I've never been in the house.' Stovitz smiled and said, 'Oh, you know where the bedroom is — or the window' indicating 'You're not fooling me.'"

Then Manson added: "I pride myself on truth — even when it hurts."

"I've been at that residence on five or six occasions, but I've never been in the house."

Earlier, 18-year-old Stephanie Schram, a former Manson "family" member, told the seven-man, five-woman jury that the long-haired sex guru "promised not to leave my side for two weeks" and kept his promise. The "two weeks" was during the time of the killing of five persons at the home of actress Sharon Tate and the killing of Rosemary and Leno La Bianca the following night.

Wearing Levis and a white shirt, the long-haired Anaheim resident smiled frequently at Manson and his three girl followers — Susan Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel and Leslie Van Houten — on trial with him for the mass murders.

"Do you know Charles Manson," Deputy District Attorney Fincent Bugliosi asked.

"Yes," the slim brunette answered turning to smile broadly at Manson seated in the counsel table.

"I met him the morning of Monday, Aug. 3, just south of Big Sur. I was with a friend of mine in a gas station and got out to go to the restroom."

"WHEN I GOT out we started talking and he asked me if I wanted to come with him to see Big Sur for a few days. I did."

Continuing to smile broadly at Manson and the three girl-defendants, the girl testified she immediately left her boy friend and went with Manson to Big Sur for the next three days. She came back to Los Angeles, she said, and became a member of Manson's "family," living at the Spahn Ranch in Chatsworth.

"We stayed at the ranch just a day and a half," she said, "then decided to go to San Diego . . . so I could get some clothes and stay at the Ranch. We got a little way, but decided not to go until the next day — so we slept in the truck."

SHE AND Manson returned to the Ranch the afternoon of Aug. 8, she said. The Tate murders were committed the night of Aug. 8 or early morning Aug. 9, the prosecution contends.

Under cross examination, and still smiling broadly at the defendants, the girl said Manson was "with me the evening of Aug. 8."

Charlie woke me up a little before dawn on Aug. 8 and we went to Devil's Canyon and stayed there two weeks. Charlie was with me most of the time — a few times I didn't know where he was," the girl said.

On Aug. 9 — the night of the LaBianca murders — she said she was with Manson at Devil's Canyon, but "when it got dark he left — he came back either late at night or early in the morning — I was asleep."

AT ONE POINT, she said, she got homesick and discussed it with Manson.

"I made Charlie promise not to leave my side for two weeks."

"And did he keep his promise," chief defense counsel Paul Fitzgerald asked.

"Yes — more or less," she answered, still smiling at Manson.

She became homesick again, she said on redirect examination, when she was with the family at the Barker Ranch in Death Valley.

"I was sitting down with a rifle across my lap," she said candidly, "when Charlie asked if I was homesick. He said he'd give me one more chance to go home. I said, 'yes' that I was homesick and would like to go home."

"He took the rifle and hit me across the head with it . . . I guess he knocked me down a couple of times and told me I'd better forget about going home," she said, turning towards Manson and smiling weakly.

DA Denies Lenience on Child Abuse

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Chief Deputy Attorney General Charles O'Brien Friday accused his election opponent, Evelle J. Younger, of displaying "a strange lenience" toward child abusers when he was a judge.

Younger, through a campaign spokesman in Los Angeles, promptly denied the accusations and said they were "a smear campaign." The spokesman added the allegations were refuted by a top Los Angeles judge in 1964 when Younger sought and won the job of district attorney.

O'Brien told a news conference in the capitol that an examination of Younger's record while on the Superior Court bench was "interesting for a law-and-order man."

No Shortage of Meat Seen Despite Strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — There will be no critical shortage of meat due to a butchers' strike, although supplies will be exhausted by today at the 20 affected packing plants, an industry spokesman said Friday.

The Food Employers Council spokesman said there may be some shortages in certain cuts of meat but basic needs will be met by increased supplies from out of state and stepped up local production.

The AFL-CIO Meatcutters Union struck the Los Angeles area packing plants Wednesday in a contract dispute. The union is asking for a 40 per cent package increase over the next three years, according to the council.

Communication Gap Reported in Recent Fires

Poor communication was a major problem during the recent series of brush fires in Los Angeles County, officials told a board of inquiry Friday.

Richard Barrows, acting chief of the Fire and Rescue Division of the California Disaster Office, said firemen need more radio frequency channels when fighting such major blazes.

"We were impeded because we could not communicate with those people responsible for dealing with our apparatus," Barrows said.

Barrows is in charge of the Mutual Aid Program which makes fire fighting equipment available for major emergencies.

He said equipment was brought in from as far away as San Francisco to fight the fires.

Donald Douglas to Run Equal Chance Unit

Donald W. Douglas Jr., vice president-administration of the McDonnell Douglas Corp., will direct the corporation's equal opportunity program nationwide, company Chairman James S. McDonnell said Friday in St. Louis.

Douglas will oversee the affirmative action programs the company has drawn up to assure equal opportunity for its 95,000 employees.

In February, the company became the first in the nation to receive government approval of its affirmative action program for its St. Louis plant written under new federal regulations.

Twenty-seven more programs have since been put into effect to cover each of the corporation's plant sites.

Realty Office Loses Machines to Thieves

Business machines valued at $1,323 were stolen from Muntz Realty, 5538 E. Seventh St., by burglars who forced open a sliding glass door to gain entry, Long Beach police said Friday.

FCC Members Row Over Sex

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Republican chairman of the Federal Communications Commission and a maverick Democratic FCC member brought their long-smoldering dispute into the open Friday in a fuss over alleged sexual exploitation of women in commercials.

FCC Chairman Dean Burch and Commissioner Nicholas Johnson, one of three Democrats on the regulatory agency, attacked each other in separate letters to Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., who last week criticized Johnson.

Burch publicly reprimanded Johnson and apologized for his use of a "lewd" expression on a taped TV program and for "grandstanding" when WRC-TV, an NBC station in Washington, deleted his remark.

Johnson, 36, argued on the program that a commercial for certain hair spray suggested it would make women look more sexy, with the result that they would "get laid." The phrase was deleted when the program was broadcast and Johnson branded the station's action "arrogant power-of thought and control."

JOHNSON, whose seven year term on the FCC expires in June, 1973, said in his letter to Cook:

"I am disappointed, although not surprised, that Chairman, Burch today has joined the unthinking industry apologists who refuse to address the issues of commercialization of our society, and in the bargain has joined Vice President Agnew in making a personal attack on me."

The Agnew-Johnson feud began when the vice president made a speech saying young people go on drugs because of rock music. Johnson said that was nonsense and that alcohol and cigarettes were a greater concern. Then Agnew called him a "super-permissive" government official.

The Burch-Johnson differences to date have been confined largely to voting on FCC matters, although the two men have completely opposite philosophies.

BURCH'S open rebuke of Johnson was in a letter to Cook because the Kentucky senator had said use of similar language might lead to a demand for Johnson's resignation.

"The essence of his views that the commercials debase women and love by depicting women as physical sex objects devoid of other qualities was presented on the program," Burch told Cook.

"Commissioner Johnson apparently believes that only that phrase would do. That the same thought could not be conveyed with other equally expressive but nonoffensive words . . . I do not believe that the English language is so barren."

Burch accused Johnson of using the phrase "in order to get attention" and, after seeing it deleted, of employing "grandstanding tactics" to ridicule all TV programming.

Great Projector Lamp Scare Empties Building

SACRAMENTO (U) — The great projector lamp scare emptied a 17-floor state office building Friday six blocks from the state Capitol in downtown Sacramento.

But all it finally amounted to was an extra-long lunch hour for several hundred secretaries and other office workers, none of whom appeared frightened.

INSPECTOR Robert McHale of the state police said a caller told a telephone operator a bomb was set to go off in a state building at 11:45 a.m.

No bomb was found at the location specified by the caller, but other buildings were searched, too. Shortly before 11 a.m., an object wrapped in a bright orange bag was found in a shallow closet in the penthouse just above the 17th floor in State Office Building No. 9, one of the twin towers southwest of the domed Capitol.

So employees were urged to leave and elevators began disgorging hundreds of people who milled around in the lobby briefly before departing.

A BOMB disposal squad from nearby Mather Air Force Base arrived with siren screaming. Squad members were whisked up to the penthouse.

Air Force Sgt. Ted Long, a member of the squad, said he gingerly examined the foot-long object for about 10 minutes before it was carefully unwrapped to reveal the three-inch-long lamp.

Lettuce Fight Goes to Capital

WASHINGTON (U) — The farm worker followers of Cesar Chavez brought their boycott of nonunion lettuce to the nation's capital Friday.

Eugene Boutilier, spokesman for the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, said he planned to use the same strategy of passing out leaflets, talking to store managers and occasionally picketing as was employed in the four-year grape boycott.

The UFWOC won the struggle for representation of grape picketers in August and immediately petitioned major Salinas, Calif., vegetable growers for an election among their workers for UFWOC representation.

ACCORDING to Boutilier, the vegetable growers solicited contracts with the Teamsters Union and then announced to the press and their workers that they had signed Teamsters contracts.

When the vegetable pickers left the fields to strike in protest of what Boutilier called the "back-door contract," growers said production was cut by two-thirds. Three weeks later, however, the growers won a court fight prohibiting strike activity in the Salinas area.

Chavez then called the national boycott.

Anaheim Youth to Be Tested in Girls' Death

An Anaheim youth who rigged a rifle boobytrap at his apartment, and whose girl friend was slain when it fired as she raised a window, was taken to Chino Prison Friday for diagnostic tests.

Randall E. Ackles, 18, was ordered by Santa Ana Superior Court Judge James F. Judge to have psychological and psychiatric tests during a 90-day confinement.

The court ordered that Ackles be returned Jan. 4, when reports from prison doctors will be filed for study.

Melita Jay Bonham, 17, of La Palma, was killed by a single shot in her head when she raised a window at his place July 30.

GUTTED CHURCH AFTER PILOT DELIBERATELY CRASHED PLANE INTO IT

PILOT ENDANGERS WORSHIPPERS

Crash into Church 'Symbolic'

SAN JUAN, Tex. (UPI) — A pilot who had been "acting a little bit strange" deliberately smashed his small rented plane into the Shrine of the Virgin of San Juan Catholic church at high noon Friday, sending 130 children, nuns and priests fleeing from the crumbling, burning ruins.

A friend said the crash was a symbolic gesture because the pilot "opposed the materialism of organized religion." Still strapped in his flight seat, he died in the flames.

Sixty priests worshipping at mass and 70 children and nuns eating lunch in an adjoining cafeteria ran to safety from the white-stone structure. "We were in the house of God and he protected us," said the Rev. John Ward.

The pilot, identified as Frank L. Alexander of San Juan, called the tower at McAllen International Airport at 11:33 a.m.

He demanded from his single engine plane 27 minutes before the crash that all Methodist and Catholic churches in South Texas be evacuated.

"The crash was a symbolic gesture," said Alexander's next door neighbor, who would not identify himself. "He was very opposed to the materialism of organized religion. It wasn't aimed at the Catholic Church, per se, but just at all organized religion, and the Catholic Church just happened to be the biggest."

"He couldn't live in a world where things were not like he thought they ought to be," the friend said.

"He had an equation worked out to solve the world's problems — using love and hate and that kind of stuff," a McAllen policeman said of Alexander. "He had been hanging around the police station acting a little bit strange for the past two or three weeks. He was a law and order man."

The McAllen International Airport received a call from Alexander via his two-way radio at 11:33 a.m.

"He called on an emergency frequency to advise fire departments to evacuate all Methodist and Catholic churches from Weslaco to Mission and from Hidalgo to Edinburg," said Charles Wardrup, chief of the control tower.

All are towns in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. San Juan is just six miles from the Mexico border.

"We queried the pilot as to why the churches should be evacuated," Wardrup said. "He said, 'Due to a serious plot.'"

Police said there were too many churches across South Texas to notify them all and too little time.

The aircraft was rented from the Upper Valley Flying Service in McAllen. The plane first hit the top of the main sanctuary. It then bounced and struck the ceiling of an adjoining cafeteria.

Ward called the Shrine of San Juan "the outstanding Catholic church in South Texas, if not all of Texas."

Bishop Humberto Medeiros made his farewell speech there earlier this month before becoming Archbishop of Boston, succeeding Cardinal Richard J. Cushing.

A National Transportation Safety Board team was sent to San Juan to investigate the crash.

Mitchell Hits Pig Tag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell discounted Friday the possibility of a national conspiracy against police, but said the use of radical rhetoric like "off the pigs" is contributing to the increasing number of attacks on law officers.

"Where you have underground newspapers saying things like 'off the pigs' and where individual groups are encouraging attacks, the constant repetition of this dialogue has brought about more attacks upon police," Mitchell said.

Mitchell held a rare session with reporters after meeting in private with Quinn Tamm, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Tamm said that during July, August and September, 560 police officers were injured, 21 were killed and there were 141 bombings.

"This is a startling figure," Tamm said. "It's frightening. This is a real cause of concern."

Mitchell said he did not believe there was a conspiracy in the sense that anarchists have banded together to attack the police.

He also conceded the government could do nothing about the use of radical language because of the First Amendment guarantee of free speech "unless we can find a causal connection" between an attack on police and use of such slogans by radicals.

Mitchell set up the meeting with Tamm to plan a conference of top local and state law enforcement personnel with Justice Department officials Oct. 30 to seek solutions to common problems, "including senseless attacks on police officers and terrorist bombings."

"These lawless acts cannot be allowed to continue," Mitchell said. "The conference we are arranging will allow us to work more closely together and for a common purpose."

Both Tamm and Mitchell denounced a suggestion made at a congressional hearing recently by Michael Harrington, national president of the Fraternal Order of Police, that there might be some areas of the inner city that police should not enter for their own safety.

"I think that's ridiculous," Tamm said. "I don't think there's any place police might not be able to assume their obligations."

Mitchell said that even suggesting such an idea is "opting for abdication of law enforcement responsibilities."

In past years, the IACP has often been critical of the FBI for a lack of cooperation but Tamm went out of his way Friday to say that the Justice Department had enabled his organization to collect up-to-date figures for the first time on police assaults.

He said a Justice Department grant also was enabling the IACP to develop some protective armour, police weapons and protective devices for local police.

Judge Delays Release of Radical 'Blacklist'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge called a House committee report on radical campus speakers a "blacklist" Friday and scheduled a final decision for next week on whether to forbid its public distribution.

Government lawyers said the House Internal Security Committee report was ordered by Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., to determine the extent to which revolutionary and Communist-oriented organizations are financed by campus speech fees.

"But when he reached that point he didn't pursue it," said U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell. "He printed a list of names. He took the blacklist route."

GESELL SAID that after compiling the list of what the committee called 65 radical campus speakers Ichord did not go on to determine that their fees financed revolutionary activity but instead ordered a list of their names printed and distributed "to college presidents, alumni members and their families."

Kevin T. Maroney, a Justice Department lawyer representing the committee, said the report's conclusion that "the campus speaking circuit is certainly the source of significant financing for the promoters of disorderly and revolutionary activity among students" is indisputable.

And he said balance of powers between Congress and the courts gives Gesell no authority to stop publication of the report, which the lawyer called a normal part of the legislative process.

The report says a survey of 95 U.S. colleges and universities shows that 65 speakers it identifies as members of 11 revolutionary, militant or Communist-oriented organizations or supporters of such organizations were paid $108,968 for 155 campus speeches over the past two years.

MARONEY SAID Ichord ordered the survey on the basis of an FBI report that "the Black Panthers and other revolutionary organizations were receiving substantial financing from campus speeches."

Gesell scheduled a final hearing and decision for next Wednesday night on whether to sign a permanent court order against public distribution of the report.

He extended until then the temporary restraining order he signed last week against publication of the report.

Ichord has had the report distributed to any newsman who asked for it, and has had the government lawyers challenge the court's authority to issue such an order.

The order was asked by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of three people named in the report.

ACLU attorney Lawrence Speiser contended the report serves no valid legislative purpose. He said it "is stuck by" its own language that no legislation is intended, and said the only purpose of its public distribution was "exposure for exposure's sake."

Petition at Kent Raps 'Outsiders'

By WILLIAM C. HOOP

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Kent State University President Robert I. White Friday was presented a student petition which blamed last spring's campus disturbances which led to the death of four students on "outside agitation."

THE STUDENTS presented the petition to White as part of a "civil liberties moratorium" held here and on other college campuses after the grand jury report of its investigation. The grand jury said "major responsibility" for the Kent incidents was the "permissiveness" and "over-indulgence" of the school's administration.

The petition was signed by 2,100 students. They told White the petition would have an additional 10,000 signatures by next week.

"The members of Kent State University, who are primarily here for an education, wish to express the desire of our institution to remain open," the petition said. "We do not wish to have our university closed due to those acts committed by those not associated with our institution."

"Outside agitation is not viewed favorably no matter what cause the agitators support."

Peter C. Blik, 22, Rochester, N.Y., a junior who transferred from Monroe Community College in Rochester, was the 13th person arrested of the 25 indicted by the state grand jury. He was charged with arson and first degree riot in the burning of the ROTC building on the Kent State campus on the night of May 2.

Owner Denies Role in WSU Death Plane

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The owner of an airplane that crashed and killed 30 persons in a Wichita State University football party Oct. 2, testified Friday that he did not consider his company the operator of the plane.

Jack Richards, owner of the two Martin 404s used to take the football team on a flight to Logan, Utah, said that although the leases for them had not been signed by WSU officials, he considered the crews sent to pick them up were responsible for them.

RICHARDS testified before a federal board that he had signed the lease and that parties leasing his planes frequently hadn't signed them until after the planes left his possession in Oklahoma City.

The university leased planes from Richards for its trips and arranged with Golden Eagle Aviation Inc., also of Oklahoma City for the flight crews.

Richards said he considered his lease "just verbal until such time as it got to them," and added, "I didn't consider I was the operator of the plane because they sent their pilots to pick them up. I was going on the verbal agreement at that time."

Previous testimony by Ronald G. Skipper, copilot of the plane which crashed and president of Golden Eagle, was that he had the lease in his possession and it had been signed by A.C. "Bet" Katzenmeyer, Wichita State athletic director who was killed in the accident. The lease was destroyed in the crash.

Earlier, a mechanic who had checked the planes three weeks earlier in storage at Las Vegas, Nev., said they had not been flown in more than two years. He said he found the planes "were airworthy for ferry" but refused to countersign the ferry certificate because there were no batteries in the plane at the time.

Irving Hoffman of Las Vegas, who worked on Martin aircraft during a 28-year Air Force career, was referring to a 10-day ferry permit used to transport a Martin 404 from Las Vegas to Oklahoma City in September.

Louis M. Thayer, chairman of the board of inquiry, said the hearings would go into Saturday.

Eight witnesses scheduled to be heard have not yet testified.

Parks Chief Declares Nude Ban 'Ridiculous'

SAN RAFAEL (AP) — The head of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission says he can't see any reason for outlawing nudity in secluded outdoor places, as the county's new ordinance would do.

The ordinance, which takes effect Nov. 19, would ban public nudity in all unincorporated areas of the county, just north of San Francisco.

The ordinance was adopted Tuesday by the county Board of Supervisors in reaction to groups of hippie-type young people who doffed their clothes at Mirror Beach.

Lothar Salin parks and recreation commission chairman, while saying he does not favor nudity on public thoroughfares or in crowded parks, termed the ordinance "ridiculous."

Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales defended the statute as "a good ordinance" and said, "I hope it causes nudists to avoid Marin County."

The law provides a $600 fine, six months in jail, or both for "wilfully exposing genitals or the female breast."

County Unit 'Files' Prop. 18

By GILBERT BAILEY
Contributing Editor

The Los Angeles County Environmental Quality Control Committee Friday refused to take any stand on controversial Proposition 18, "the clean air" amendment to the California Constitution.

On a split vote the committee voted to table a motion in support offered by Mrs. Ellen Stern Harris, a public member on the committee which is dominated by county department head members.

The motion to table was offered by Arthur G. Will, director of the department of real estate management of Los Angeles County.

EARLIER a subcommittee of the committee voted in opposition to Proposition 18, which would allow for diversion of gas tax funds to rapid transit and auto pollution control.

The two public members on the subcommittee voted in favor of Proposition 18 while five county department members voted against.

On the tabling motion the public members split their votes, while the department heads generally voted in favor of the motion.

Conservationists groups too split in testimony before the committee on the question of whether the committee should consider the motion. One conservationist group, considering the cause lost, urged the committee not to vote.

However, Dr. Robert S. Eisenberg of USC medical school, a respiratory ailment specialist, said tests on a breathmobile in the Pasadena area had showed 30 to 40 per cent of those tested with abnormal breathing problems.

"If more highways are constructed they may be needed to carry people out of Los Angeles, those living," he said.

HE TERMED air pollution's effect on people "De-vastating."

Will in advocating the motion to table said department heads have a conflict of interests in both advising county supervisors and taking public positions.

Mrs. Harris in urging the committee vote said, "Either we are here assembled in a concerted effort to upgrade the environment of Los Angeles County... or we really have no right to continue convening."

AEROSPACE OFFICIAL SHOWS POTENTIAL ROUTE OF SALTON SEA ECOLOGY PIPELINE
Dr. Martin Goldsmith Says Sea May Be Too Salty to Support Fish Within Four or Five Years
—AP Wirephoto

Pipeline Sought for Salton Sea

SACRAMENTO — A nonprofit corporation Friday proposed construction of a 136-mile pipeline canal between the Salton Sea and the Gulf of California to help the ecology of the sea.

Drainage from irrigated farmland around the Salton Sea is causing it to become saltier each year, said Dr. Martin Goldsmith of Aerospace Corp. He said experts fear the sea will begin to be too salty to support fish in four or five years.

About 1.3 million acre-feet of salty water is poured into the sea annually. A similar amount of water evaporates from the sea each year, Goldsmith said. But since the water that evaporates is pure, the evaporation process leaves the salt behind, the sea is becoming more saline.

Goldsmith said construction of the pipeline canal would pump out 120,000

Computerized Telescope Dedicated at Mt. Palomar

PALOMAR MOUNTAIN — A telescope with a computerized "eye" that lets man see into the universe 10 million times better than with the naked eye was dedicated Friday.

The ceremony marked the unveiling of the million-dollar dome named for the late Oscar G. Mayer.

The new, 60-inch telescope can see objects nearly three billion light years away, astronomers said. A light year is the distance light can travel in one year at 186,000 miles a second.

The telescope sits with three others in Hale observatories atop a 5,800-foot peak in north-central San Diego County.

Although dwarfed by the 200-inch Hale telescope, it

Torrance Plant DDT Pollution of Sea Denied

NEWARK, N.J. — The president of Montrose Chemical Corp., a Newark-based firm whose Torrance, Calif. plant is one of the world's largest manufacturers of DDT, Friday denied charges that pollution from the California plant is a threat to wildlife.

The charges were made in a suit filed in U.S. District Court, Los Angeles, by the Environment Defense Fund, a coalition of scientists and lawyers formed to protect the environment.

Samuel Rotrosen, speaking from his Newark office, said, "The charge that large amounts of DDT are draining into the Pacific Ocean from the Montrose Chemical Corp. plant at Torrance is without foundation."

"On the contrary, our company has been commended by the Los Angeles County Sanitation District for the excellent job we have done in keeping DDT out of our effluent."

HE SAID county officials found one per cent or less of DDT in sewage passing through its treatment plant.

In its complaint, EDF alleges that Montrose "releases an effluent that is high in DDT concentrations" into Los Angeles County's sewers. The suit charges the concentration of chlorinated hydrocarbons, primarily DDT residues, is as much as 3,000 parts per billion in sewers downstream from the Montrose plant.

The EDF says the discharge from the sewage treatment plant eventually reaches the Pacific Ocean.

"A discharge from the plant containing 85 parts per billion of DDT residues is equivalent to at least 100

200,000 More Acres Added to U.S. Wilderness Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed into law Friday legislation designating 200,000 additional acres of land in 12 states as national wilderness.

It was the largest single addition of acreage to the Interior Department's national wilderness preservation system since the passage of the Wilderness Act in 1964.

The lands included areas within the Bering Sea, Bogoslof, Tuxedni, St. Lazaria, Hazy Islands and Forster Island National Wildlife Refuges in Alaska.

Expansion of the wilderness areas also included lands in the Tree Arch Rocks and Oregon Islands.

Bill Frees U.S. Land for Recreation Use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Friday signed a bill that permits state and local governments to get surplus federal land for park and recreational use at no cost in some cases.

The legislation is an amendment to the 1965 Land and Water Conservation Act, which required state or local governments to pay at least half of the fair market value of such lands.

Under the new law, the Secretary of the Interior will determine whether surplus federal property is suitable for park or recreational use and then recommend the price for sale, which now can range from zero to 50 per cent of its value.

IN MURPHY

Reagan Has 'Utmost Trust'

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan, in a strong defense of Sen. George Murphy's involvement with Technicolor, Inc., said Friday he would trust the senator with "my life."

Campaigning for re-election, Reagan also urged about 200 persons at a rally on the grounds of the San Bernardino Orange Show to support Murphy for reelection.

"The GOP senator is challenged by Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney."

Reagan said he knew Murphy "when you had to lay your career on the line to fight the Communist attempt to take over the picture business and Senator Murphy was one of the first in line to do it."

"I would swear by his integrity," Reagan said.

"I know him to be honest and I'd trust him with my family, whatever I've got, that I own, or my life."

MURPHY has been severely criticized by Tunney during the campaign for being a $20,000-a-year consultant for Technicolor while serving as a U.S. senator.

The firm also paid one half of the rent on Murphy's Washington apartment and allowed him to use a company air travel credit card. Murphy is no longer associated with Technicolor.

Reagan later told a news conference that Tunney's father, former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney, was a good friend of Murphy's and a member of the Technicolor board of directors.

"One of the men who voted yes as a member of the board of directors of Technicolor is Mr. Gene Tunney," Reagan told a Riverside audience. He said Gene Tunney had supported the decision to hire Murphy as a consultant.

Reagan also said Patrick Frawley, former head of Technicolor, would "speak out" soon on behalf of Murphy.

Frawley was ousted as president of Technicolor in a recent stockholders fight. He was responsible for bringing Murphy into the firm.

Earlier in the day in Perris, Reagan officially broke ground for the state water project's Perris Dam with a weak dynamite explosion replacing the traditional shovelful of earth.

"Our natural resources are not inexhaustible, and neither is the patience of our environment," Reagan told the crowd of 2,000 gathered at the desert site of the proposed dam.

"Like a parent who has been pushed too far, mother nature will punish her misbehaving child if abuses continue," he added.

The $27-million Perris Dam, when completed in 1973, will create a 1,360-acre lake with six miles of shoreline at the terminus of the state water project.

THE GROUND breaking ceremony employed a small dynamite charge on a nearby hill to signify the start of construction. The explosion was too weak to be seen or heard by the crowd.

Colorful, helium-filled balloons were released to the 120-foot level of the proposed dam and a cowboy on horseback raced to the podium to present Reagan with a canteen of water from Oroville Dam, the largest one in the project.

"We are committed to conservation, sensible conservation, and we want to improve the California environment," Reagan said.

"We are committed to the preservation of California's natural beauty and we wish to strike a balance between those who would justify anything in the name of progress and those who would permit no more highways, no more factories, no more homes, no more progress," he said.

Reagan also urged the crowd to approve propositions 1 and 20 on the Nov. 3 general election ballot.

Proposition 1 is a $250-million bond issue to raise funds for construction of sewage treatment plants.

Proposition 20 is a $60-million bond issue to develop recreational facilities on the water project's 19 lakes and 500 miles of canals and streams.

SIMON PUSHES REAGAN ATTACK

LOS ANGELES — Millionaire industrialist Norton Simon demanded again Friday that Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., disclose "any interest they had, have, or intend to have with the Irvine Co."

Simon, a University of California regent and unsuccessful senatorial candidate against Murphy in the June 2 GOP primary, has repeatedly attacked Reagan and Murphy, saying they have received large political contributions from the Irvine Co., a big real estate firm, for their support of a proposed housing development near UC Irvine.

"I call for an immediate public airing of all Irvine investments," Simon said.

Simon also said Reagan is supporting Murphy in his re-election bid and has made commitments to appear personally on Murphy's behalf.

"In review of the governor's active support of Sen. Murphy, and Sen. Murphy's involvement with the Irvine Co., it seems imperative that Sen. Murphy make a full disclosure about his activities with and support by the Irvine Co. and its personnel," Simon said.

2 Regents Face Possible Irvine Conflict of Interest

SAN JOSE — The state auditor general Friday reported "a conflict of interest could occur" as a result of an Irvine Co. business deal involving two University of California regents, Edward W. Carter and William French Smith.

The report says another regent, Edwin Pauley, was separately involved in even larger business dealing involving the university through a holding company than the $5.8 million "originally disclosed" which prompted the preliminary study.

William Merrifield, the auditor general, said other investigations now have begun into "other business transactions" involving "university employees and corporations or business firms owned or controlled by regents of the University of California."

Merrifield said it is up to the Assembly Education Committee to decide whether transactions outlined to it constitute conflicts of interest.

MERRIFIELD gave a preliminary report to the committee meeting here. The study sprang from a resolution by Assemblymen John Stull, R-Leucadia, and Robert Burke, R-Huntington Beach, asking for a probe of transactions involving a non-profit corporation composed of University of California officials, which ostensibly acted as an agent for Pauley Petroleum, Inc. to acquire a $5.8 million loan.

The university corporation received some money from the transaction because it was able to acquire the money at a lower rate and pass it on to Pauley at a slightly higher rate.

"Our investigation of the transactions between Property Holding Corporation and Pauley Petroleum, Inc.," Merrifield reported, "disclosed that the total transactions are $10.7 million instead of the $5.8 million as originally disclosed in the resolution."

Merrifield said a conflict of interest "could occur" involving Regents Carter and Smith. Smith is Gov. Reagan's personal attorney and a Reagan appointee to the board.

"REGENT SMITH'S law firm represents the Irvine Co.," said Merrifield. "Regent Carter is a lifetime board member of the Irvine Foundation that has controlling interest in the Irvine Co."

The auditor general noted an Irvine Co. gift of land provided 1,000 acres for the Irvine UC campus.

The potential for conflict arises, his report says, on "the question concerning the future development of the Irvine Co. land" because changes in the university campus master plan "would require the university regents' approval."

"Our local police and sheriffs are the frontline fighters against crime and violence and they need the fullest support possible from the federal government," Tunney said.

Unruh Again Charges Giveaway to Oil Firms

By GEORGE A. KRIMSKY

LOS ANGELES — Jess Unruh hammered Friday at what he scored as a keystone of the Reagan administration — favoritism for the big-money interests, particularly the oil industry.

Unruh, the Democratic candidate for governor, said three major oil companies contributed at least $35,000 to Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's re-election campaign "to pay him back for the windfall" of $1.64 million in yearly property tax exemptions.

Unruh said Standard Oil Co. of California, Union Oil Co., and Signal Oil Co. contributed to Reagan's campaign because they benefited from his inaction on a 1967 bill prohibiting local governments from taxing oil royalties.

THE CANDIDATE from Inglewood said Standard gave $25,000 and got an annual tax break of $281,807; Union gave the Reagan campaign $7,500 and got an exemption of $391,040, and Signal gave $2,500 and got $591,273 in exempted taxes this year.

"If that's all they gave, they got off cheap," Unruh told newsmen here. He said the contributions were made either by the companies or directors of the companies, but he did not elaborate.

A spokesman for Signal, when asked for comment, replied: "As a company we have not contributed to any political campaign. If a contribution was made, it was made by an individual in the company, but we would have no way of knowing that."

A spokesman for Standard said the company would issue no comment.

Union spokesmen weren't available for comment.

Court Won't Halt Reagan Statements

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — A restraining order preventing Gov. Ronald Reagan and Republican state Senate candidate Bill Park from making statements about a Democratic state Senator was quashed Friday by a Superior Court judge.

Judge Harold V. Thompson

Riles Urges Field Trips for Students

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wilson Riles, candidate for the state's top public school post, suggested Friday that students take field trips to see how "the system" functions.

Riles proposed his plan to close the credibility gap between students and the establishment in a speech to employees of a department store.

He urged that a greater portion of the curriculum in all grades be devoted to well-planned visits to offices, stores and factories where "the day to day action of society really is."

"Our technological society requires more contact between the child and the changing world beyond the classroom windows," said the candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

son of Fresno County ordered the temporary restraining order removed without making any comment.

A COMPLAINT filed by Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield, charged that Reagan and Park had made false statements about his voting record.

Kern County Superior Court Judge P. R. Borton issued the restraining order against Reagan, Park and 16 San Joaquin Valley broadcasting stations last Friday.

Later, Kern County judges disqualified themselves from the case and Thompson was brought in to consider arguments.

Park filed a motion for removing the order and Thompson took arguments from both sides Thursday and Friday.

Stiern's complaint charged that Reagan, during an Oct. 2 speech here, falsely accused Stiern of voting to kill a bill to censor University of California officials following the appointment of Eldridge Cleaver as a lecturer at Berkeley and then changed his vote when he "heard the angry voice of the people."

THE ACTION also contended that Reagan erroneously stated Stiern helped kill a bill which would have prevented instructors such as Angela Davis from teaching on California campuses.

The action accused Park of declaring in a radio broadcast that Stiern had twice voted in favor of busing children to achieve ethnic balance when he did not.

LENGTHY LIST OF BALLOT PROPOSITIONS

8 of 20 Issues Aim to Streamline Government

By ROBT. P. LAURENCE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Voters are being asked this fall to answer the question of what happens when an elected statewide official is disabled and unable to carry out his duties.

They will face a lengthy list of 20 state ballot propositions altogether, including eight measures aimed at streamlining state government.

Prop. 22, sponsored by Assemblyman Paul Priolo, R-Pacific Palisades, chairman of the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee, would give the State Supreme Court power to decide questions of vacancy in the offices of lieutenant governor, attorney general, controller, secretary of state, treasurer and superintendent of public instruction.

THE OFFICE of secretary of state was left virtually vacant for almost a year beginning in May 1969 when the late Frank M. Jordan was crippled by a stroke. He died in March. Gov. Ronald Reagan then named assistant secretary H. P. Sullivan to replace him until a new secretary could be elected Nov. 3.

The proposed constitutional amendment, already approved by the Legislature, would authorize setting up a new commission on constitutional officers.

When an officeholder is disabled and fails to carry out his duties, the commission would ask the court for a ruling to that effect. If the court issues the ruling, the governor could then appoint an "acting" officer.

If the disabled officeholder recovers, he can then use the same procedure to ask the court to reinstate him.

THE CONSTITUTION already grants to a commission on the governorship the power to raise questions of temporary disability regarding the governor, and the Supreme Court is given the power to resolve the issue.

Priolo and Sen. Stephen Teale, D-Rail Road Flat, state in their argument for Prop. 2 on the voters' pamphlet that it "closes a long-standing gap in the California law."

But an opponent, Assemblyman David A. Roberti, D-Los Angeles, says the measure could "result in unjustified removal from office of popularly elected constitutional officers."

The measure "opens wide the door to irresponsible and undemocratic attempts to dislodge as 'incapacitated,' elected officials who have the strength and integrity to advocate the unpopular," according to Roberti.

PROP. 3 is an attempt to resolve perennial legislative delays in passing a state budget.

Now under the Constitution the governor must submit his budget for the next fiscal year to the Legislature within the first 30 days of the legislative session. The lawmakers must then pass the budget by June 30, the last day of the fiscal year. During the past two legislative sessions, lawmakers went days past the deadline and left the state without a budget.

But under the proposed amendment sponsored by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, and passed by the Legislature, the governor would submit the budget within the first 30 days of the session. The Legislature would have to pass it by June 15, two weeks before the end of the fiscal year.

But Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, argues the proposition would give a new governor little time to submit a budget, forcing him to accept that of the outgoing chief executive.

A SECTION of this measure also prohibits the passage of any other appropriation bills, except emergency measures recommended by the governor or funds for the Legislature itself, before the budget is passed. Thus it conflicts with Prop. 4 which would allow early passage of school appropriations. But Prop. 3 states that if it and Prop. 4 both pass, only Prop. 3 will go into effect.

Prop. 11 would empower the state board of chiropractic examiners to set up certain rules for chiropractors, including requirements for continuing education. It would amend the chiropractic initiative act passed by voters in 1922. The State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards favors the measure sponsored by Assemblyman L. E. Townsend, D-Torrance, and passed by the Legislature.

But opposing Assemblyman Kent Stacy, R-Bakersfield, says the measure unfairly singles out chiropractors as the only professional group with mandatory continuing education.

PROP. 12 would allow supervisors in all counties to set their own salaries by passing a local ordinance subject to referendum. Currently salaries are set by the Legislature.

The proposed amendment would "restore home rule on salaries rather than have your taxes for purely local service set by centralized government in Sacramento," according to its sponsor, Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco. Also signing the voters' pamphlet argument are Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, and Sen. John McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

But Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton, claims the "present system has worked well for many years and there really is no reason to change it." He says it has "served as a check" on exorbitant salaries.

PROP. 14 would revise provisions relating to civil service, removing certain positions from the civil service list.

Prop. 15 revises "miscellaneous" sections of the Constitution, according to the legislative counsel, including provisions relating to dueling, the location of the state capitol, public works, minimum wages, sexual discrimination and elections.

Prop. 16 would allow the Legislature to withdraw or change a proposed constitutional amendment after it has been passed by the lawmakers but before it goes to the voters. It would also make initiatives, referendums and legislative proposals effective on the day following an election and revises procedures for a constitutional convention.

Prop. 17 would repeal obsolete provisions relating to social welfare.

LA HABRA MANAGER Fired Seal Beach Official Wins Job

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

Lee Risner, fired July 27 from his post as City Manager of Seal Beach amid controversy still rumbling through the city, Friday announced he has accepted the post of administrative officer for the City of La Habra.

The appointment is effective Nov. 1.

The one-time Long Beach city official, who still has a compensatory claim pending against the City of Seal Beach stemming from his dismissal, said he received confirmation of the new job early Friday from La Habra Mayor Hal Simms.

"FROM WHAT the mayor said, it was an unanimous decision on the part of the City Council and himself," said Risner. Simms indicated he had been chosen from a field of more than 100 applicants, Risner added.

Risner's firing by a three-man bloc in the Seal Beach City Council split that body and city residents into factions, giving rise to a month-long series of hearings on the licensing of the Marina Palace dance hall for teen-agers and a recall drive against Councilman Conway Fuhrman.

City Attorney James Carnes and City Engineer Don Stratford were also fired following a 50-minute executive session meeting of the council, acknowledged at the time by four councilmen to be in violation of the city's charter.

Risner's dismissal July 27 was also initiated in a breach of the city charter, which specified the city manager must be retained

LEE RISNER
Hired By La Habra

"I will be offered another job on Monday, if I don't send a telegram right away," he added, "in a smaller city than La Habra, out of state."

Risner added that he had spent Friday morning, after receiving confirmation for the job by phone, on a La Habra house-hunting expedition with his wife.

"She and I love the City of Seal Beach," he said, "but when you cut one tie, you cut them all. We're looking forward to going to La Habra."

RISNER'S new post, as the city's administrative officer, involves essentially the same duties as did the city manager's job in Seal Beach, he said. He succeeds Howard Schroeder, who quit the position last June.

The City of Long Beach provided Risner with his start in city government work in 1952. He worked for the city until 1964, when he resigned his position as administrative assistant to the city manager's office to become city administrator in Maywood.

He held the Maywood post for two years, prior to moving into the Seal Beach job.

for 90 days following the seating of any new council. The current council took office June 2.

"The total claim against the city that I filed is for $27,050," Risner said Friday, for breach of a contract clause calling for 6 months' notice prior to dismissal or payment of six months' salary.

"I would hope" that placement in the La Habra post would hasten settlement of the claim, Risner added.

RISNER SAID that during his La Habra job interview he was asked for full details about his firing at Seal Beach.

"They (La Habra officials) asked questions about it and wanted to know about it, but apparently they gave it consideration and decided the qualifications they wanted were there," he said.

MASS IMMUNIZATION

50,000 Youngsters to Get Rubella Shots

Medical-Science Editor

Up to 50,000 youngsters are expected to be immunized Sunday against rubella, the virus disorder that can cause devastating birth defects.

Seven clinic sites will be in operation from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to vaccinate youngsters one to 12 years old.

Rubella is also known as German measles. It is a different disorder than common measles (rubeola), and vaccination against measles, or having had the measles, does not protect against rubella.

The mass immunization program, designed to immunize children in Long Beach, Lakewood, Hawaiian Gardens and Signal Hill, has been organized by the Citizens Committee to Eliminate Rubella.

It represents more than 3,000 volunteers from 53 community organizations.

PLANNING FOR THE one-day program has been under way for the past six months, according to Dr. John W. Mitchell, a Long Beach pediatrician who heads the committee.

Inoculations will be given by air-pressure "guns" which propel the vaccine in a high-speed mist. No needles are used.

Special chartered buses, decorated with "Rub Out Rubella" posters for easy identification, will operate Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to bring parents and children to clinic sites.

The bus rides will be free.

As for the vaccine, contributions will be accepted — but inoculations will be free for those who cannot afford to pay.

THE CLINIC sites are:

Auditorium, Stephens Junior High School, 1830 W. Columbia St.

Auditorium, Millikan High School, 2800 Snowden Ave.

Auditorium, Lakewood High School, 4400 Briarcrest St., Lakewood.

Girls gymnasium, Jordan High School, 6500 Atlantic Ave.

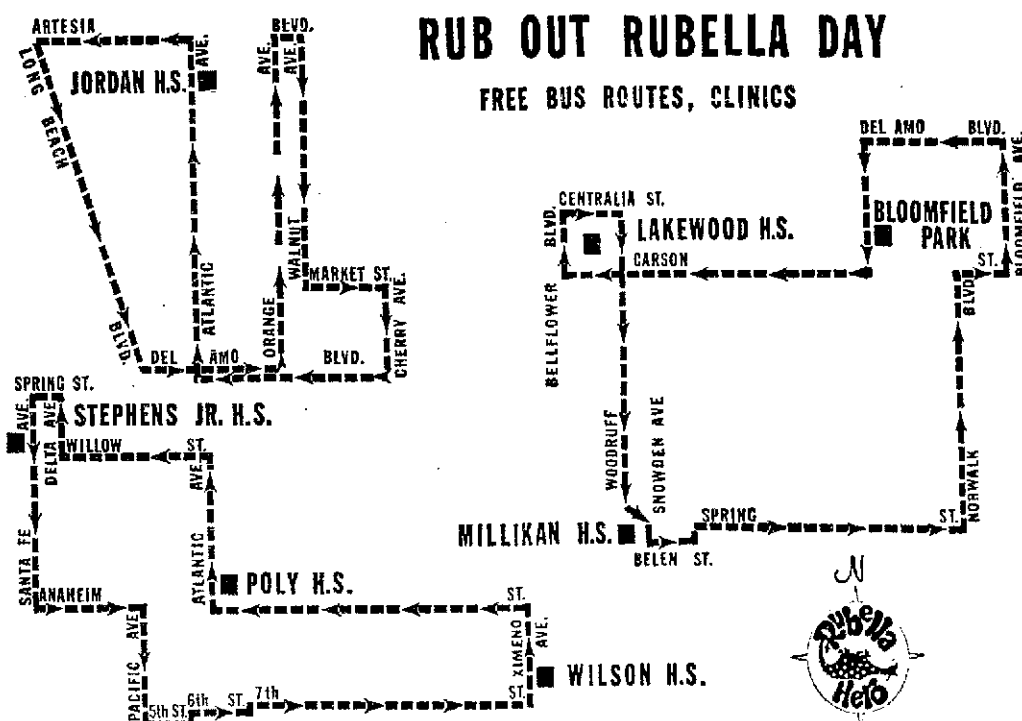

Girls gymnasium, Poly High School, 1600 Atlantic Ave.

Boys gymnasium, Wilson High School, 4400 E. Tenth St.

Main building, Bloomfield Park, 21420 Pioneer Blvd., Lakewood.

Persons with last-minute questions about the program are asked to telephone the Long Beach Health Department or the Long Beach office of the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Dr. Mitchell, in commenting on certain statements that the rubella vaccine might not be safe, said the American Academy of Pediatrics stated just this week at its annual meeting in San Francisco that all children one to 10 should be immunized.

MAP SHOWS three free bus routes which will serve seven clinic sites for Rub Out Rubella Sunday immunizations. Parent or guardian must accompany children on buses and also to clinics. Inoculations will be given at Long

More than 20 million doses of rubella vaccine have been given without one documentation of virus transfer from a child to a pregnant mother, Dr. Mitchell said.

Fear had been expressed that virus shedding from an immunized child might adversely affect the fetus in a pregnant woman.

"The risk exists in theory only," Dr. Mitchell said.

Meanwhile, a report in the Sept. 14 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association asserts that inoculation of children with rubella vaccine will not endanger their pregnant mothers.

The conclusion in the journal article stems from a study in Cleveland, Ohio, reported by a researcher at Case Western Reserve University school of medicine.

Dr. Mitchell said that all children aged one to puberty will be immunized in the Long Beach campaign.

Vaccinations will not be given to early-maturing girls nor to any other women of childbearing age.

Beach Poly, Wilson, Jordan and Millikan High Schools, Lakewood High School, Stephens Junior High, and Bloomfield Park, Lakewood.

—Drawing by City of Long Beach Cartographer Paul Callina Jr.

Aim of the campaign is to forestall an expected rubella epidemic. The idea is to immunize youngsters so that they won't develop rubella and carry the virus into their homes.

Every youngster who is vaccinated Sunday will be given a free "Rubella Hero" button depicting the virus as a slain dragon.

Oceangate's First Unit Gets Permit

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

A permit for construction of the first unit of Oceangate, the $40-million west beach development by Boise Cascade Corp., was issued Friday by the city Building Department.

The permit covers construction of a 12-story office building at 100 Oceangate at an estimated cost of $5,300,000.

The building was designed by the Long Beach architectural firm of Killingsworth, Brady and Associates, and will be built by Stolle, Inc., general contractors.

Robert A. Hoffman, general manager of Boise Cascade Urban Development, said the first phase of the 21-acre project will be completed in about 16 months.

The first phase consists of the office building and a garden-level shopping mall. Future development plans call for a 300-unit hotel, a major office building devoted to the petroleum industry and other commercial buildings.

The shopping mall will be at the southwest corner of Ocean Boulevard and Magnolia Avenue, adjacent to the approaches to Queen's Way Bridge. The 12-story office building will border the west side of the mall.

Harbor City Wife Guilty in Ex-Husband's Death

Rosemary Cantos, 35-year-old Harbor City mother of six was convicted of voluntary manslaughter Friday in the double-gunshot death of her ex-convict former husband, Joseph, 32.

A Long Beach Superior Court jury convicted her after seven hours of deliberation.

Mrs. Cantos, of 1348 1/2 W. Anaheim St., testified the 265-pound gardener was beating her and that she acted in self-defense when she shot him in her apartment last May 25.

Mrs. Cantos was not in court to hear the verdict. With the court's permission she had taken her nine-year-old daughter, Tina, to Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Los Angeles for treatment of complications arising from the amputation of her left leg. The child wears an artificial limb.

Mrs. Cantos is free on $6,250 bail pending a probation hearing and sentencing Judge Hampton Hutton set for Nov. 20.

GARDEN JOBS

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Ranunculus asiaticus are popular cut-flower plants. They sometimes are called Persian or turban ranunculus. They are the most floriferous of any of the spring-blooming bulbs. The name ranunculus is Latin for little frog.

The ranunculus family has 25 genus of which nine are popularly known. They are the Clematis vine, Thalictrum the meadow rue, Anemone, Hepatica, Peony, Delphinium, Aconitum, Helleborus and the Aquilegia the Columbine.

One bulb of perhaps one half inch or one inch in length and nearly the same width produces a husky plant 15 to 18 inches high and nearly as wide with continuing succession of flowers for about three months.

THIS MEANS the gardener can have lots of cut flowers as well as continuing color in the garden. The flowers have forms whether single, double, rose or clematis and come in a wide range of colors such as pink, orange, shades of red, yellow tones to staw color, deep golden yellow, as well as white.

Plant them in among perennials or annuals, or in a flower bed by themselves. The pointed ends of the claws like bulbs should be planted down. The bulb tops should not be more than an inch below the soil surface. Dry bulbs may not need to be soaked for several hours before planting if the soil has been thoroughly watered a day or so before planting.

Birds love the young growth that pops through the ground. Be sure to protect this growth by putting a small mesh chicken wire over the planted area. Take off the wire when growth is about four inches tall. You also can buy the plants in flats or pony packs already started. They won't need the wire protection.

WE'D BE remiss if we failed to recommend planting a row of Anemone "wind flower" bulbs in front of the ranunculus. They don't grow more than a foot tall. The bulbs actually are termed corms, and are variously shaped. Some look like pieces of hard soil. The gardener sometimes can't determine which irregular side of the corm is the top. Rub your finger over the corm. A small rough or slightly fuzzy area is the top. The corm tops should be two to three inches below the soil surface. They too may be soaked for several hours before planting if set in dry soil.

There are more "good investment" bulbs we'll discuss in our next garden column, but now we'd like to recommend an outstanding annual.

Delphinium Pacific hybrids should be set out this month because they need a longer growing period to produce those tall stately spikes. These flowers appear in various shades of blue, purple tones, lavender, pinkish lavender, and white. In the spring the young plants should be spaced at least 12 to 15 inches apart, at the back part of the sunny flower-bed.

ORANGIC material should be worked into the soil if there's a need for it, and some phosphoric acid type fertilizer should be added when planting bulbs, flowers, flowering shrubs, and fruiting plants for that matter. A small amount of phosphoric acid in the soil is indispensable to all plant growth. It stimulates early growth and root formation, hastens maturity, helps flowering and promotes seed production. It also contributes to the general hardiness of plants.

Western Fertilizer Handbook explains that not much is known about the function of potash (potassium) in plants. More is known about what happens when there is a deficiency in this element. From such information, it is theorized that potash enhances the plant's ability to resist disease, cold, and other adverse conditions, and that it functions in the processes whereby starches and sugars are made from carbon dioxide and water.

Phosphoric acid and potash help as a flower maker - fruit maker fertilizer (Bone meal is an organic phosphoric acid. It works much slower in the soil before it becomes available for roots absorption. Superphosphate on the other hand works faster.)

Early blooming Sasanqua camellias are burgeoning forth with dainty blossoms. These plants tend to become willowy. They lend themselves well to espalliering on wald or wire fences. The most amazing thing about them is the fact that they grow in full sun, half shade, and shade and do equally well in those various exposures. They grow faster than do the Japonica camellias.

Plant Pimula malacoides in shady garden spots. Plant them between but in front of camellias, fuchsias, azaleas, or other shade shrubs. They grow fairly fast and provide masses of dainty, lovely flowers. If separate colors of pink, rose, white, lavender, are available, be sure to plant the light color-varieties in the densest shade, and the darkest colors in most indirect light. The dark colors in darkest areas are lost whereas the light colors show up best.

Be sure to plant some Dutch iris in groups of a dozen or more in the sunny areas of the flower bed. They may be left in the ground for several years before they'll need to be dug and bulbs separated.

Burglars Loot

Margaret Ann Sanders, 922 Belmont Ave., told Long Beach police Friday that prowlers forced open a sliding glass door at her home and took a TV set, stereo and other household items valued at $1,423.

USS SAN JOSE COMMISSIONED

The first Navy ship to be named after San Jose and the last in a series of seven fast (25 miles an hour) combat support ships was commissioned Friday at Pier E. U.S. Rep. Charles Gubser, R-San Jose, was the main speaker. San Jose Mayor Ronald James welcomed the 440 men and presented them four color TV sets on behalf of the city. Capt. James Morris is the first skipper of the 581-foot, highly automated replenishment ship to be based in Alameda. Other dignitaries present were U.S. Reps. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, and Del Clawson, R-Downey. Rear Adm. H. V. Bird, naval base commander, placed the ship commission for the Department of the Navy.

ZEKES CUT A RECORD

First Step Toward Fame

By JOHN LUNGREN JR. Staff Writer

—from "Leaving You" by the Zekes

I'm taking my time to find out what I'm here for. I've had enough of these weary lives...

The Zekes, a young rock group from Long Beach, have taken the first long step on the road to stardom.

Len Gale, 19, his brother Ken, 17, and Mike Hardin, 19, have just recorded their first single titled "Leaving You," released under the Beverly Hills label. Their producer, Bob Duffey, heard them first last June at a local rock contest.

"It is hard to find a group doing that well at their age," says Duffey who also produces Frank Zappa and the Mothers of Invention.

Len and Mike are students at Long Beach City College and Ken attends Poly High School.

They write their own songs, working out melodies and harmonies on a piano before transferring them into the "hard rock" style. Len sings and plays drums, Ken plays the electric guitar and Mike the electric bass.

Len says there are two worlds in rock music — the "listening songs" and the "hard rock." The Zekes prefer "hard rock" because "We want to make people dig it and get into it."

Duffey says their songs are based on "visual appearance" as well as music, and he hopes they will develop their "exuberant" approach on stage.

Orange Co. Scholars to Compete

The 1970 Orange County Academic Decathlon, a competition of scholastic achievement between high school juniors and seniors, will be Nov. 21 at the Foothill High School in Tustin.

Dr. Robert Dea Peterson, county superintendent of schools, said that this year there will be a continuous tally of the scores of the individuals competing, rather than the usual delay of a few hours while the standings are figured.

FORTY TEAMS — boy and girl juniors and seniors from the various high schools — will be in competition this year.

There are 10 events, including mathematics, science, practical arts, social sciences, literature, aesthetics, speech, conversation, essay writing and extracurricular activities.

There will be six $100 stipends to the winners as scholarship assists, job interviews for most of the contestants, and all-expense flights to Sacramento to visit Gov. Reagan and the Legislature for the six top students.

Widow of Chaplain to Speak

The Rev. Isadora Fox, widow of Lt. George Fox, one of the four chaplains who lost their lives in the torpedoing of the USS Dorchester during World War II, will be guest speaker at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Four Chaplains Post, American Legion, Downey.

The Legion post, which is composed entirely of former service chaplains, meets at Christ Lutheran Church, 7707 E. Florence Ave. ...

Lt. Sox and his three colleagues — representing the Catholic, Jewish and Protestant faiths — gave up their lifejackets to others aboard the troopship Dorchester when the vessel was torpedoed off Greenland Feb. 3, 1943. The four chaplains then knelt in prayer on the bow as the ship went down.

Q. Can you identify this fern, tell me what care it requires, and what to use for insecticide scale insects on it? Would this be indoor or outdoor fern? Mrs. G. W.

A. The dry frond and pinnae resemble sword fern. It is a hardy fern in shade outdoors, but can be grown indoors. Do not use an oil type spray for scale infestation. There is or has been a scale spray for orchids and ferns. The usual spray recommended is malathion. Crown of this fern must not be covered by soil. Water as needed. Weak liquid fish fertilizer is good for it.

Q. Could you tell me more about the plant called Colchicum? We have a giant one in soil and one just in a dish without even water. The waterless one has done better than the one in the ground. The plant is unique. We measured it carefully, and the dry one grew 2 1/4 inches in 24 hours. P. G. W.

A. Colchicum is a genus of about 30 species of mostly autumn, crocus-like bulbs of the lily family. We've even seen some of the autumn crocus waterless in the nursery in a box that were blooming. The one in the ground should bloom. Planting it in this way plus the watering could be a factor in checking it from blooming as soon as the waterless one.

Q. What's wrong with my grapes. The vines don't produce fruit. They are on a trellis, have green foliage but no grapes? Maybe they get too much water. They've been in the ground three years, and nursery that sold them to me said they were three years old at time of purchase.

A. Grapes need deep drinks of water, then no more till they get thirsty. They need a dosing of bone meal in winter as do roses. They also need manure mulch. (A more effective fruit-flower maker than bone meal alone is available in pellet form. Prune vines in the winter. Cut the secondary short willowy growths back to within two buds of where they grew out the long thick canes.

Ban Nonreturnable Container!

By HOLCOMB B. NOBLE
Associated Press Writer

Ban the can! Throttle the nonreturnable bottle! Trash is cash! These are cries that are going up in a drive across the nation to reduce one major source of pollution in America: the nonreturnable container.

Ecology-minded young people, Boy Scouts, Congressmen, U.S. senators, state legislators, the New York City Sanitation Department and some container makers themselves are joining in.

THEY'RE attacking a mountainous problem that the President's Environmental Quality Council says may grow as high as 100 billion virtually indestructible bottles and cans by 1980 — unless something is done rapidly to prevent it.

Their concern has led to the introduction of four bills in Congress and some form of legislative consideration in 21 states to tax or ban nonreturnable containers.

In the state of Washington a legislative initiative on the subject attracted a record number of signatures: 188,102 people put their names to a petition calling for a state law that would require that such beverages as beer and soda be made in containers having refund value of at least five cents. The matter will be put before the voters in a November referendum.

A requirement that containers be returned and used again of course cuts down on the number manufactured and in use.

ALTHOUGH glass, for example, accounts for only some 6 per cent of the nation's solid waste problem, the National Academy of Sciences says, it creates a larger problem because once it winds up on the garbage heap it stays there — virtually indestructible.

"While cans will at least rust away with a period of time, the nonreturnable bottle will probably exist through all eternity, blighting our land and despoiling our water," says Pennsylvania State Rep. John F. Laudadio. He introduced a state bill calling for a ban on bottling and selling beer and soft drinks in nonreturnable bottles. It would impose a $1 fine for each bottle unlawfully sold, up to a maximum of $1,000, and a jail term if the fine were not paid.

Dr. Ellis Yochesson, an ecologist, and high school pupils in Bowie, Md., pushed last spring for a citywide prohibition on the sale of nonreturnable beverage containers. Not long afterward — July 21 — the City Council passed an ordinance banning the nonreturnables after April 1, 1971. The ordinance provides for penalty or fine of $100 or imprisonment of 30 days.

CITY CLERK Mrs. Edith Maylack said, "The City Council feels maybe we can encourage private industry to move along faster," toward developing disposable containers.

The Canadian province of British Columbia has enacted a litter law making metal, glass, plastic containers of drinks refundable for a minimum of two cents. The act took effect July 1.

But the proponents of such legislation have by no means met with unqualified success.

Illinois recently enacted a statute to protect the environment but the bill passed only after controls over nonreturnable containers were removed from its provisions. Bottling firms were active in opposing the controls.

And California Assemblywoman March Fong's "ban-the-can" bill, imposing a mandatory five-cent deposit, died in the Legislature this year. She says she will reintroduce it next year.

AMONG the legislative proposals now under consideration in Congress is a bill sponsored by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., which would impose a "disposal charge" on container manufacturers.

"It is the local government that is faced with the ultimate problem of disposable waste packaging and if you're going to put the burden of wastes on local government, then you must give them the necessary financing also," Nelson said. His bill would return the disposal charge to state and municipal governments.

The New York City Sanitation Department earls away some 14,000 tons of household refuse every day and much of this is in the form of beverage containers. The city has been conducting meetings with major bottlers to reach some agreement on methods of reducing the amount of throwaway containers.

In mid-September the Environmental Action Coalition, a private group, will launch a "Trash is Cash" reclamation project involving some 300 companies who have agreed to pay for collected bottles, aluminum, bimetal and steel cans. The project will have collection centers manned by Boy and Girl Scout troops, drug addiction service groups and other volunteers.

A SPOKESMAN for the group says he has had thousands of inquiries from citizens who have been saving "more than a ton" of cans and bottles for reuse. The bottles will be redeemed at a penny a pound, aluminum at $200 a ton, bimetal cans with lids attached at $3 a ton.

Youth groups and conservation organizations have taken part also in cleanup drives on beaches in Florida and in the Berkshire Hills resort area of western Massachusetts. The Reynolds Aluminum Co. in Tampa, Fla., is paying 10 cents a pound for reusable cans and members of those groups have turned in tons of those cans to Reynolds, which says it eventually plans to open reclamation plants throughout the country.

Private industry and universities are acting in other areas.

Tests and research are under way to develop self-destruct bottles, plastic bottles that can be burned without polluting the air, and ways to crush and reuse old glass.

PEPSI-COLA and Coca-Cola are test marketing their soft drinks in plastic bottles they say can be safely burned. Researchers at Clemson University in South Carolina are working on a self-destruct bottle of water-soluble glass wrapped in an outer layer of plastic. You peel off the plastic and then wash the whole business down the drain. The researchers say, however, the remainder may itself be a cause of pollution and the bottle is still several years from perfection.

The Glass Container Manufacturers Institute has announced a program for the collection of old nonreturnable bottles. Bottle makers in 27 states, operating 92 plants, intend to buy back old bottles for a half cent each, or a penny a pound, and then grind the glass and make new bottles out of it.

Some airlines in the past few weeks have begun replacing the millions of miniature bottles of liquor, served to passengers on commercial flights, with new disposable aluminum foil containers. Other airlines, however, have rejected the innovation.

"IF THEY come through with something that won't crush, that can be stored and won't crumple and break, we might try it again," said one airline that tested them.

But another said the new containers are cheaper, lighter, are less bulky and contain a few extra drops of liquor, adding

"The stewardesses love them and find them much easier to handle."

COCU's Health, Plants of Bible, and Ethnic P.S.

By LES RODNEY

Interested persons are invited to attend two potentially important get-togethers of church leaders. Today, at the Claremont School of Theology, from 9:30 to 5, the Southern California Task Force for the study of the plan of union to unite nine denominations (COCU) will conduct a general consultation. It is the start of a prolonged Southland study of the proposed plan, which will be returned to the national Consultation on Church Union with revisions. Final plan will probably be submitted in two or three years to the denominations for a vote either to accept or reject.

Those with questions about COCU, and curious to know whether it is really a vital matter moving toward resolution, or a waning going-through-motions, would be able to get an idea from these discussions.

Then Monday through Friday in the Los Angeles Hilton, the United Methodist Board of Missions holds its annual meeting, which it tries to rotate around sections of the country. This is the 10,000,000-member denomination's largest single agency, spends the most money, employs the most people, and gets most criticism, probably because of the first two reasons. "Missions" just about covers everything a church denomination does, so the sessions should be interesting.

Presbyterian Church decided on Nov. 1st, when the football Rams are playing away and their game is on television.

"THE FLOWERS appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come..." Song of Solomon.

Flowers and plants, mentioned often and specifically in the Bible, are to be seen in a new TV presentation, "Living Plants of the Bible," produced by the American Bible Society. The 10-minute color slide feature is being distributed through the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches. Script, slides and tape are provided for local television programming.

An introductory art slide shows apricots, figs, dates, olives and pomegranates — all fruit of some of today's living plants in the Holy Land that are mentioned in the Bible.

Viewers learn that the tall, massive, fragrant Cedars of Lebanon (like many of our redwoods) have fallen victim to lumbermen who felled them without thought of replacement. Sometimes called "the prince of trees," the beautiful cedars, so abundant in the time of Solomon in the 10th Century, B.C., are rare today, even in Israel.

Genesis relates that Abraham lived "where oaks grow." Shown is a specimen of evergreen oak, "sturdy and strong," blooming in Meiron in Galilee.

Another tree, the acacia, dots the springtime desert in the wilderness of Arabia for 40 years. Another tree which survives droughts and offers shade is the tamarisk, pink-blossomed in spring (best time to visit the Holy Land, before the summer heat and the touring teachers get there).

The sycamore fig trees, which Zacchaeus climbed in Jericho to see Jesus, has a short trunk and gnarled branches, providing, as the viewer today can see, an easily attainable seat for the short publican.

Ancient Jericho, which proclaims itself the oldest city in the world, was called "the city of palm trees" in the Old Testament. You can see why today.

The lilies of the field which "neither toil nor spin," were actually anemones. They still grow wild in yellow, purple, blue and red throughout the Middle East. Oleanders

TO COMPTON, WITH LOVE

Rev. Joseph Karanza will be formally commissioned Sunday, 3 p.m. to preach the gospel at St. Peter's Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod), 4205 E. Alondra Blvd., Compton. The new pastor, former vicar at First Lutheran of Long Beach, and more recently a cooperative minister in Rock Island, Ill., brings to Compton a background of working in an integrated community. He says he hopes to make St. Peter's "a community church, working for and with all the people."

Wind in the breeze by the Sea of Galilee, where poppies wave at the water's south end, and large thistles are plentiful between Nazareth and Tiberias.

No collection of plants mentioned in the bible would be complete without the famous bulrushes among which the baby Moses was found by Pharaoh's daughter. Common

Wide Range of Visiting Speakers in Long Beach-Area Churches Sunday

The summer season, with vacations and reduced level of church activities, is definitely over, and Long Beach resumes its place as a humming center of religion-based events, covering the broadest spectrum of outreach, evangelism and other Christian concerns and spiritual enrichment. As this lineup of speakers this Sunday suggests. More activities are to be found in the "Goings On" column.

OPTIMISTIC
Christian Science Lecturer Robert H. Mitchell of Edinburgh, Scotland, who will speak Sunday, 3 p.m. in First Church of Christ, Scientist, 440 Elm Ave., says changes that are freeing the individual and society "indicate a tremendous and beneficent power for good propelling us forward." The lecture is free.

MISSIONARY EVANGELIST
Carol Lankford, who served as missionary among the French Acadian people of Louisiana and the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota, continues the nightly (except Saturday) evangelistic meetings through Friday, 7:30 at Rosewood Christian Church, 4323 E. Rosecrans Ave., Compton.

RETIRED, BUT NOT RETIRING
Buena Gehlsen, former Minnesotan who led the popular Twin Cities All Girls Orchestra before retiring to Long Beach, will bring her talents Sunday, 11 a.m. to the Senior Citizens Church, Third and Linden, where Pastor Eagleson likes to spotlight individual personalities from the lively congregation. Buena, generous with her talent, gives many inspirational programs in local hospitals and retirement homes, and plays frequently at the Sunset Club.

MISSION HEAD AT LOS ALTOS
Rev. Joe Walker, United Methodist Board of Missions executive, here for the national meeting in Los Angeles, will speak Sunday 9 and 10:30 a.m. at Los Altos Church, 5850 E. Willow St. He formerly pastored Central United Protestant Church in Richland, Wash., an ecumenical congregation of 2,400 members representing 11 denominations.

METHODIST EXEC 'HOMECOMING'
George Williams, Cal State Long Beach grad in 1959, elected treasurer of the Southern California-Arizona Conference of the United Methodist Church, where he also serves as conference statistician, will speak at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday in North Long Beach church, 5006 Linden Ave.

ON FURLOUGH FROM ETHIOPIA
Yvonne D. Blacy, R.N., Orthodox Presbyterian missionary nurse who serves at the 22-bed Compassion of Jesus Hospital in Ethiopia's Eritrea Province, on the Red Sea, will be guest at a missionary service Sunday, 7:45 p.m. in First Orthodox Presbyterian Church, 500 E. San Antonio Drive.

'BRIEFLY'...

(Continued from Page B-3) along the Nile, these reeds grow to as much as 18 feet. In these days of belated concern over man's pollution of his environment, there is a timeliness about this TV special stressing the Bible's many references to man's and God's delight in the universe of nature. A STATEMENT by two leaders of the United States Catholic Conference that more attention must be paid to the white ethnic working class has been criticized by Negro churchmen. The differences surfaced in an exchange of letters between the National Committee of Black Churchmen, and both the Catholic conference and the American Jewish Committee, whose Urban Committee had also voiced concern about the so-called "forgotten Americans," the Caucasian blue collar workers. Signed by a dozen leaders of the black church group, the letter from the NCBC said in part: "The speed with which you have pulled in your horns and altered your direction is cause for grave concern on our part. Surely you need not be reminded that the job of aiding the black and brown communities to reach even the modest levels... already existing among white working-class people has barely gotten underway." In a reply to the black group's director, Rev. J. Metz Rollins, Bishop Joseph L. Bernardin, general secretary of the Catholic Conference, said that the conference and its Urban Task Force intend no change whatsoever in their determination "to continue their efforts on behalf of the urgent—and too long neglected—needs of the black community." "On the contrary," the bishop said, "the whole thrust... in regard to the ethnic working class is to seek to bring about conditions that would encourage this sector of American society to enter into coalition with blacks and other urban poor on a self-interest basis. Granted, this requires focusing attention on the problems and legitimate complaints of the ethnic working class; but it does not follow that this need be construed as a deemphasis of the problems of the black community."

Christian Research Head at Lakewood 1st

Prof. Walter R. Martin, director of the Christian Research Institute, and author of 10 books on the philosophy of religion, will conduct a seminar on cults Sunday through Thursday, 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church of Lakewood, 5336 Arbor Road. His latest book, "The Kingdom of the Cults," dealing with 17 of the modern cult systems, was selected by Christianity Today and Eternity Magazine as a leading work in its field. Martin served as associate professor of Biblical studies at Kings College, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., four years as editorial research associate of Action Magazine, official organ of the National Assn. of Evangelicals, was editor of Eternity Magazine. His tracts have been translated and circulated in the millions of copies. Time Magazine in an article called him "a research polemicist who brought peace and not a sword."

GOINGS ON

Navy Sabbath will be observed Sunday 11 a.m. at Galilee Navy Family Chapel, 2015 W. Hill St., which annually has a special Sunday for the Fleet Reserve Assn. "What was once a local observance," says Pastor Ward McCabe, "has grown to a nationwide one. It shows that the Association is not only Navy oriented, but recognizes a Supreme Commander."... The Christian Drama League of America will present "Many Mansions," by John French, at St. John's Presbyterian, 4603 E. Rosecrans Ave., Sunday, 7 p.m., admission free... Rev. Arthur R. Bartlett, director of the Seaman's Church Institute of San Pedro, will tell of his work with sailors of many lands Wednesday, 7:15 in First Methodist, Fifth and Pacific. The 453rd anniversary of the Reformation will be observed at Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity, Carson and Cherry, with showing of the full length documentary film "Martin Luther" at 6 p.m. Rt. Rev. Edward G. Longid, suffragan bishop of the Philippines, who says "My mother was a witchdoctor, my father a headhunter," now converted by the son, will speak Sunday at the 6:30 communion service of St. Anselm of Canterbury Episcopal, 13091 Gaiway St., Garden Grove. The same church, whose rector, Rev. Samir J. Habiby is chairman of the Armed Forces Commission of the Southland Episcopal Diocese, will observe Navy Sabbath Day with special prayers for the prisoners of war held in North Vietnam... The Musical Cameron Family from Scotland will be at Harbor City Foursquare, 835 W. 255th St., Friday at 7:30 p.m. A series of seven concerts begins Sunday 8 p.m. in St. Francis Episcopal of Palms Verdes Estates with organist William C. Beck on the 40-rank Reuter.

CAMPUS YOUTH PROJECT BIG HIT Help! Even Phone No. Is HAUNTED

"Halloween's most terrifying experience," the Haunted House sponsored and produced by Youth for Christ/Campus Life of Greater Long Beach, goes into its second and last big week from Tuesday through Saturday, Oct. 31, open each night 7-10. Thousands enjoyed it last week. Ghosts, monsters, zombies, Dracula's Den, Snake and Spider Room (with real snakes), the electric chair room, and other features await the intrepid visitor in the house at 61st Street and California Avenue. The Haunted House is one of scores being presented nationwide, explains Don Goehner, local director.

"Purpose is to raise funds for activities among high school students, at a time when vandalism and loitering are high among teens. "Complete police cooperation has been assured," he added. The staff for the house, more than 75 each night, is comprised of college students from the Long Beach area, donating their time to participate as monsters, make-up assistants, technicians and crowd expeditions.

FROM THE PULPIT
Everybody who loves Gospel music knows about the wonderful Weatherford Quartet. This lovely group will be featured in a great unified service here at Calvary from 9:45 - 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, November 1. This will be a different type service and will be centered altogether around the angelic theme. Nothing like this has ever been held in our church before. You will think yourself in an old-fashioned camp meeting. It is an experience that you will not soon forget. Wednesday night, November 11th, Dr. Art Wilson, famous preacher of prophecy, will preach at Calvary on his return from campaigns in Japan and Korea. We are off to a great start in our Christmas Missions Offerings. Each class and department has set a goal, and we expect $20,000 extra for missions... Christians celebrate Christmas in a Christian manner. It's HIS birthday. Have you given to missions lately? Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

The Philosophy of Vince Lombardi

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

When Vince Lombardi took over as coach of the Green Bay Packers, he said, "I've never been with a losing team in my life and I don't think I'll start now." He never backed down from that statement. He lives today near to God and in the hearts of millions of people who loved and respected him. What a supreme football coach he was! He was a man I admired tremendously.

Bart Starr, who was with Green Bay the day Lombardi took over as coach, says he owes his whole life to this man. In an article Starr wrote for our Guideposts magazine he tells how Lombardi saved him from mediocrity. He brought out something in Starr that changed his career and his life — confidence!

Because of Lombardi, Bart Starr began to change his thinking. "Treat mistakes with a vengeance," Lombardi told him. "Don't brood over them; profit from them. If you think about mistakes, you'll make more mistakes. Just come back wiser and harder." What a wonderful philosophy Vince Lombardi had.

THAT FIRST day he took over the Packers, Lombardi told the team: "Gentlemen, we're going to have a football team. We are going to win some games. Do you know why? Because you are going to have confidence in me and my system. By being alert you are going to make fewer mistakes than your opponents. By working harder you are going to out-execute a u-l-l-b-l-o-c-k, out-battle every team that comes your way.

"But first of all," he went on, putting his finger to his temple, "you are going to prepare yourself up here. You can't win if you're not ready to win mentally. Therefore I expect you to think about only three things while you are part of this organization: your family, your religion, and the Green Bay Packers."

Vince Lombardi's ideas, his dynamic way of life, can be available to all of us and useful in any undertaking if we but have the mental toughness to weld them together into a way of living. Lombardi dealt with the basic things. He was a man who deeply believed in the virtues that were stamped all over his teams. Football is basically a game of blocking and tackling, and that is what Lombardi's teams did best. They did not worry about the fancy frills. The Packers ran the fundamental power sweep and the off-tackle plays with regularity and made them work with flawless execution.

Vince Lombardi was a symbol of dedication, hard work, and discipline. "One thing I always want above all," Lombardi told me the last time I met with him, "is to win. There is no sense playing a game unless you aim to win it. Your playing, working, thinking — everything — should be geared to winning." Referring to the job of a coach, he said, "The big thing is to make men, men who want to win and are willing to give all they've got to roll up a victory."

He told me that he gave little sermons to his boys once a week. In fact, he asked me for a good Bible text that he could share with them. Second Timothy 4:7 came to my mind: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith." "Yes," he said, "that's a good one; I'll use it." I learned later that every week Lombardi tacked notes on the locker room bulletin board.

At the start of one training season, the players found this typewritten notice: "Fatigue makes cowards of us all. High physical condition is vital to victory."

THIS WAS supplanted the next week by, "The harder a man works, the harder it is to surrender," followed by, "Pride is what causes a winning team's performance. And so it went week after week; many of these sayings were fragments of Lombardi's own home-grown advice.

I remember he told me that football is a game of abandon. You play with no real concern for yourself; you throw yourself at the opposition. Lombardi told his backs, "You must run with complete abandon. Nothing, not a tank nor a wall, not a dozen men can stop you from getting across that goal line." No wonder Lombardi's team was among the greatest ever developed in this country! Isn't that how you make something of your life? You don't fool around with it. You don't dabble. You go at it with abandon. You go all out.

If only all of us would approach our goals that way! Negativism and cynicism are certainly not the answers. But Lombardi's kind of motto is: "Winning isn't a big thing. It's the ONLY thing." Yes, this great man did indeed fight. He finished his course and kept the faith. Life is exactly what you put into it and Vince Lombardi gave it his all.

"I only need it until Sunday."

Methodist Board in L.A.

Concerns of minority groups, issues raised by youth, reports on mission work, and determination of financial and other priorities are on the agenda of the United Methodist Board of Missions at its 1970 annual meeting Monday through Friday at the Los Angeles Hilton Hotel. About 500 persons are expected.

The Board of Missions gives leadership in national mission and church extension work in the United States, and cooperates in mission with Methodist and Methodist-related churches in 53 countries overseas. Located in the Board is the national women's program of the denomination.

The Board has about 1,300 missionaries at work in Asia, Africa, Europe, and North and South America. There are more than 2,000 deaconesses and other home mission workers in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Back-to-Spiritual Church Shift Seen

To Balance Social Ethics

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The pendulum of Christian life, which periodically has moved back and forth between worldly activism and reflective spiritual nurture, today seems to be swinging back toward ministering to men's souls.

Powerful movements have arisen in the main-line churches, demanding greater emphasis on buttressing personal convictions of faith — rather than so much concentration on expressing it in social action.

"We have just lived through a period of revolt against worship in favor of social ethics," writes a noted Protestant theologian, Rev. Dr. Nels F. S. Fere of Wooster College in Ohio. "Now the tide is turning."

That doesn't mean that churches are abandoning their efforts to implement principles of justice in society, a prevalent objective in the last decade, but this is being balanced out with added stress on instilling basic beliefs and commitments.

"PEOPLE ALL about us are hungry for dimensions of mystery, experience of spirit, a sense of the luminous, and the realities of transcendence," says Rev. Dr. C. F. Allison of the Episcopal Virginia Theological Seminary.

Theologians are pointing out increasingly that Christianity, although concerned for the world, must not be "engulfed by it" or lose its own unique insights in it.

They also are stressing anew that strengthened inner resources are essential to any clear, valid directions amid the world's muddled motivations.

To act responsibly in society at large, says Rev. Dr. Philip Hefner of Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary in Pennsylvania, the church first must sustain "its inner life," its "Christian identity which supports its life."

Indications of the developing drive for greater church attention to the sacred aspects of existence have come in the upsurge of various new movements, including the charismatic or "Holy Spirit" groups both in Roman Catholicism and Protestantism.

Also, numerous new associations have arisen in the churches, such as the Convocation of United Methodists for Evangelical Christianity.

THE GATHERING affirmed that the church's prime mission is to draw individuals into a "saving relationship with Christ," and that the result would be changed attitudes and actions to better conditions in society.

In short, it saw the task of cultivating personal faith as the primary aim, taking precedence over, and prerequisite to, works to solve social problems. Sharp tensions still exist over this priority.

But the shift toward it has shown up recently in other social minded denominations, including Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Lutherans and American Baptists. Southern Baptists always have concentrated on personal salvation.

Noting the "resurgence of evangelical groups in most United States denominations," the Methodist weekly, Christian Advocate, says: "The church of the future will have to grope its ways back to an emphasis on personal religion. It must, of course, do so without losing the gains occasioned by the linking of personal with the social."

Other signs of the demand for more emphasis on the intangible, psychic elements of faith have appeared in growing youth interest in mysticism, meditation and sensitivity to hidden ultimates — a tendency sometimes deviating into drug-induced experiences.

The shift has even hit the highly social minded Unitarian Universalist Association. Its president, the Rev. Dr. Robert West, after a tour of congregations, said he found a keen uneasiness about past "almost exclusive interest in social action."

Members are "experiencing a hollow feeling and a feeling of groundlessness," he said, and are realizing that "people are not saved by action or technology alone."

TOMORROW, SAME TIME, SAME PLACE, SAME RULES.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Your philosophy of life takes a more serious direction this coming year. The experience of others becomes more meaningful to you. Your efforts at self-improvement earn recognition. Changes in tradition offer many openings for your talents. Social life takes a new direction as well, with more choices. Today's natives have durable interesting tendencies, usually strong interests in mystical matters.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do your share in local observances. Pleasant pastimes then should absorb your attention — make it a real holiday. A good show goes off the night.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Young people make this Sunday memorable. Get snapshots, mementos quietly without fuss. Creative hobbies provide great satisfaction. The evening is fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Rove through a vivacious, lighthearted day. Make all the rounds, renew old acquaintances. Entertain in the evening.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): Write and study promise results, but there are too many social things that you may accomplish very little. Visits and personal surprises turn out well.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Turn your mind away from serious business, give yourself a rest with cheerful festivity. Home and property improvements are of special attraction.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Speak up early, propose a set of interesting things to do and get started immediately. Keep on the move. There's much to discuss during the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): An early start gives you the time for a graceful, leisurely Sunday. Review social contacts, return favors. Find or give a party in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Seek a change of scene, recreation. Distance is not so important as your sense of privacy. Removed from routine, join a few old friends for an enjoyable evening.

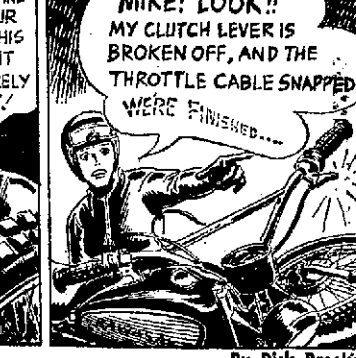

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your confidence and optimism are rewarded today. Bring your own friends along; seek new acquaintances. Fresh romantic interest is probable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Pledge of volunteer service are in order now. Begin study courses with enthusiasm. Find other people of similar interests, compare notes, share materials.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): For once let well enough alone, leave everybody to his own convictions and just enjoy the sociability. You gain quite a lot. The evening is lively with discussion.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Bring extra pleasure into the lives of those you care about. Almost any reasonable social group will thrive once it's brought together today.

SHADES OF HAMLET

By GODFREY ANDERSON

DALLAS, Tex. — There's a little danger of playing Hamlet without the Prince while director Paul Baker is around. He's providing no less than three Hamlets for his production of the Dallas Theater Center starting next Tuesday. And they'll all be on stage together.

The idea, says Baker, is to show what a very split personality Hamlet had.

"We are inside Hamlet's mind," he says. "We see how he reacts to each event, how he sees the characters around him."

To get this over, Baker uses three actors to play Hamlet — two white, one black. He rearranges Shakespeare's script so the words of the three, played against an almost ballet-like action on the stage, come as a haunting refrain which points up the gradual disintegration of Hamlet's mind.

By a juggling of the text and almost movie-like flashbacks, Baker's production shows the audience how Hamlet sees those around him — the king, the queen, Ophelia, Laertes — in the light of his father's murder. The leading role — Gene Leggett, Reginald Montgomery and Randolph Tallman — have more than Shakespeare's lines to worry about. They have to keep from getting entangled in microphone cables as they weave about the sharply raked stage in their almost Siamese-triplet relationship.

YVONNE DE CARLO... Troubling Endowment

Trials of Yvonne Worth Watching

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — When Yvonne DeCarlo made her starring debut a quarter century ago movie actresses were expected to be as full bodied as they were talented.

In many cases bosoms won out over talent.

Today Yvonne is playing a fading movie star in "The Seven Minutes," still well-grounded and more gifted as a performer than in earlier days.

Her first picture was with Alan Ladd in "This Gun for Hire," but it was "Salome" Where She Danced" that stamped Yvonne as a girl to be ogled.

"After that picture I was watched like a hawk by the Johnson office, the wardrobe department and the producer," Yvonne recalled in the commissary of 20th Century-Fox.

"In picture after picture I would walk out on the set and be studied to see if there was a hint of cleavage. If there was, I'd be sent back to wardrobe to have a scarf or a bit of fluff added to my neckline to preserve my modesty."

In view of today's standards where totally nude females are commonplace, Yvonne's tribulations seem ridiculous in retrospect.

SO DO MANY of today's naked actresses who are less well endowed than, say, Don Knotts. It appears that a formula has been derived: the smaller the bust the more undressed the actress.

Imagine the shock value of seeing some of yesterday's glamour girls in the buff.

"We used to be called love goddesses or glamour girls," Yvonne said. "Even the term 'sex symbol' was considered naughty because it included the word sex."

"In my first days in movies Lana Turner, Betty Grable, Rita Hayworth, Elizabeth Taylor, Ann Sheridan and all those girls were very voluptuous."

"It was an advantage to have a full figure then. Nowadays a girl with curves is not in demand. The only one I can think of is Raquel Welch."

YVONNE would like to see the full figure return. She did, in fact, say females should look as they did in antiquity. Round. Really round.

MENSTRUAL FLOW

Mental Factors Disrupt Periods

Medical-Science Editor

Mental factors commonly alter the menstrual pattern of service men's wives, a medical specialist said in Long Beach Friday.

Dr. John Marshall, in a lecture to doctors at St. Mary's Hospital, told of one "not unusual" problem confronting wives of Polaris submariners.

THESE WOMEN, he disclosed, may suffer amenorrhea (absence of menstrual flow) for six months while their husbands are at sea.

"Then they start to bleed the moment he gets home," he said.

Dr. Marshall, chief of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Harbor General Hospital, Torrance, discussed the variety of disorders that can cause menstrual irregularities.

There are times, he said, when the only treatment needed is "an explanation" of female physiology. Many young girls, he explained, require reassurance that they are normal.

Dr. Marshall said that oral contraceptives should never be used to correct menstrual irregularities.

The drug approach for those women who require regulation of their menstrual cycle should be one involving a therapeutic concept — replacement of certain hormones, he said. Oral contraceptives, he explained, are a pharmacological approach to interfering with ovulation — not one of treatment.

FOR SOME women, the drug Provera can regulate the menstrual cycle. Women who are deficient in the hormone estrogen require sequential administration of two hormonal agents — ethinyl estradiol and Provera.

But the sequential regimen does not mean prescribing sequential oral contraceptives, he emphasized.

Dr. Marshall, who for more than six years was a senior investigator at the National Institutes of Health, said research will begin soon at Harbor General in the use of new agents called prostaglandins. They will be tried in the induction of therapeutic abortion, he said.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (Special) — Gary Gabelich, 30-year-old Long Beach drag race driver, powered his Blue Flame liquefied natural gas rocket car to a world land speed record of 622.407 mph Friday, and immediately set his sights on breaking through the sound barrier next August.

El Rancho Rips Wilson, 42-28, Sets Title Pace

El Rancho jumped off to a quick 14-0 first-quarter lead only to see Wilson come back with three touchdowns in the second quarter and trail 21-20 at intermission.

It's a good bet that Lakewood slotback Gary Brewsaugh would just as soon have been on the bench during this offensive series. Poly's John Cofield sacks Brewsaugh for two-yard loss in second quarter.

was 14-6 after a two-point conversion pass was incomplete.

The Dons were forced to punt from their 43 nine plays after the kickoff and it gave Wilson a chance to get even.

With a third and two on the 31, Summerfelt went on a quick count and didn't stop running until he had crossed the goal line 69 yards away. Tim Maney ran for two points and a 14-14 tie.

Summerfelt's run was the only time all night Wilson was able to break clear on the ground. The Dons elected to slack seven men along the line, play two linebackers at the corner and drop two men back.

It gave Wilson the short pass but took away the ground game.

Ahead 21-20, El Rancho went 63 yards for its fourth touchdown as Don Almanza scored from the one with 7:19 left in the third quarter. The score then went to 35-20 on another 91-yard march that didn't end until two plays into the fourth quarter.

Matthews' pass to Bailey for 22 yards was the big play. George Panlages converted after each TD, and is now 28-for-28 this year.

of a very fine team, but we did not play intelligently tonight," the coach added, simmering down. "We're having trouble on offense where we shouldn't have trouble. Our passing is horrible."

Philadelphia, now 5-1 in the Atlantic Division and leading the New York Knicks, received strong efforts from all-pro forward Billy Cunningham, clever Archie Clark, lumbering Luke Jackson and veteran Hal Greer.

Clark and Greer found all the holes in the Laker defense, and they had little trouble making easy 10 and 15-foot shots that Laker center Wilt Chamberlain couldn't challenge. Clark finished with 24 points, Greer 20.

Homecoming Sweet for Millikan Grids, 28-0

By GARY ELLIS

Millikan High proved to be a rude homecoming host Friday night.

Rick Evans, Mark Emery and a fierce defense speared Jordan's victory bubble, 28-0, before an estimated crowd of 5,000.

The Rams, who showed no sign of a mental letdown after last week's last-minute loss to Wilson, held Jordan, a surprise victor last week, to a net offense of 53 yards.

Spearheaded by Brad Good, Tom Busse, John Vreeland, Rocky Rasmussen, and Mike Hargrove, the Rams harassed Jordan quarterback Jeff Kellogg throughout the game. Kellogg completed three of 24 attempts and was intercepted once. Only one Panther runner gained more than 10 yards — Gary Nickerson. The junior halfback picked up 20.

Evans, who emerged as No. 1 quarterback last week, completed 13 of 22 passes for 210 yards. His fine faking on quarterback options enabled Emery and Steve Fleischmann to gain 78 yards.

Evans opened the game with a 15-yard run. On the next play he tossed a screen pass to Fleischmann that gained 34 yards to the Jordan four. Emery scored from two yards out but the apparent TD was nullified by an illegal motion penalty. The Rams got used to battling the flags by the end of the game, having 120 yards in penalties marked off against them.

The senior quarterback scored on the next play, dashing over from seven yards out.

Early in the second quarter Evans pitched out to Emery and the 167-pound tailback scampered 38 yards for the score.

Jordan recovered a fumbled Ram punt at the 31 and moved to the Millikan five before Kellogg passed incomplete on fourth down. It was the deepest that Jordan would penetrate for the evening.

Midway through the third quarter flanker Kelly

Felix took an inside reverse from Evans and sprinted 39 yards for a Ram score.

In the fourth quarter, holding a 21-0 lead, Evans passed 38 yards to Steve Towne at the Jordan five. Emery dashed five yards off tackle to score the final TD.

76ers Punch Holes in Lakers' Defense

By DOUG IVES Staff Writer

It appears that the Lakers, again this year will be as unpredictable as the weather.

A 24-point winner over Philadelphia only three nights ago, they were no match for the swift 76ers at the Forum Friday night, losing 127-122.

A crowd of 12,006 turned out for the home opener, expecting to see the Lakers launch a season in which they emphasize speed over deliberation and put up an improved defensive front.

The speed was there, but the 76ers were faster, far more tenacious and smarter — much smarter, according to Laker coach Joe Mullaney.

Rockets Suspend Haywood

DENVER — Spencer Haywood, the American Basketball Ass'n's most valuable player and rookie of the year last season, has been suspended indefinitely by the Denver Rockets, without pay, and has been fined $500 per game, and $100 per practice missed, the club announced Friday.

Donald W. Ringsby, president and general manager of the Rockets, said he's discussed Haywood's demand for a $1.5 million raise in pay, and determined we have a valid, binding, six-year contract" with Haywood.

Ringsby said he has nothing to negotiate with Al Ross, a Los Angeles lawyer, who claims to represent Haywood.

Ringsby said he "assumes Ross will try to discredit the Rockets and our contract with Haywood." But he said the club is confident the contract can be defended and certainly hopes Haywood will return to fulfill his obligations.

Haywood's request for a pay increase, if granted, would push his salary to $3.25 million.

Van Nuys for a Metropolitan Conference football encounter with L.A. Valley College tonight at 8, seeking their first win in five starts.

Coach Gary Jacobsen, an optimist since last spring when he took over the job, suddenly has turned quiet.

"I can't say a lot," he admitted. "We've got to win one first."

With that in mind, Jake has juggled his lineup again, hoping to find the right combination. John Edwards will be back in the starting quarterback spot after missing the No. 1 assignment last week.

Edwards came off the bench to complete five of six passes for 104 yards and one touchdown against El Camino last week.

How To Get There

Take San Diego Freeway north to Burbank Blvd. Turn right on Burbank Blvd. and proceed approximately two miles. L.A. Valley College is located on the corner of Burbank and Fulton in the city of Van Nuys.

Joining him will be freshman fullback Bob Tillman from Poly, who will be given more of a chance at carrying the ball, along with Gary Rawson and Donnie Davison in the backfield.

Another new face in the lineup will be Dean Nosworthy, former Wilson High pass catching sensation. He had a brief fling at Utah.

Andy Gordon, who made a successful return to the starting right guard spot last week after missing the first month of the season with a broken hand, should help open a few holes for the runners.

The game will be broadcast on KJON-FM (88.1) beginning at 7:45 p.m.

Even Oregon Has 'Indian Sign' on SC

By LOEL SCHRADER

EUGENE, Ore. — USC may face another Indian ambush today at Autzen Stadium.

At least the Trojans must overcome a hex put upon them by Frank White Buffalo Man, grandson of Chief Sitting Bull.

Noting the success the Stanford Indians and Washington's Cherokee quarterback, Sonny Sixkiller, had enjoyed against the Trojans, the Portland Duck Club called upon White Buffalo Man for help.

White Buffalo Man, with help from Princess Little Feather, exhorted the gods to turn back the dreaded invaders from the Southland.

From a survey of statistics, it doesn't appear Oregon will need a great deal of assistance.

The Ducks are the No. 1 passing team in the nation, averaging 308.7 yards per game.

USC, to put it charitably, has not been acclaimed for its excellence against the forward pass. The Trojans have yielded 1,210 yards in six games and were bombed for 341 yards by Sixkiller last Saturday.

Regardless of deficiencies that have become apparent on the USC team, the Trojans are 13-point favorites.

USC coach John McKay laughs at the point spread. "Oregon has an excellent two-pronged attack now," he says. "We've had enough trouble lately with one-pronged attacks."

Plunkett Aims Arm at UCLA, Coliseum Jinx

By DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer

In dreaming of a Rose Bowl bid this season, Stanford's Indians realized they would have to become "jinx busters."

They've already broken two and will attempt to dispose of the other two tonight in the Coliseum when they engage UCLA in a Pacific-8 struggle which could be the Rose Bowl decider.

Two weeks ago Stanford defeated USC for the first time in 13 frustrating years to get its Rose Bowl express cranked up.

A week ago the Indians overcame the "curse of the Palouse," defeating Washington State on the Cougars' home grounds in the Pacific Northwest for the first time since 1956. They did it 63-16 "eased up."

Tonight Stanford will be seeking its first victory in the Coliseum in eight years and a triumph over UCLA in the same period of time. The last win in the south came in 1962 when the Indians ripped the Bruins, 17-7.

Odds makers believe Stanford will continue its jinx-busting spree. Las Vegas dropped the point spread from eight to seven Friday. However, the spread up north favors the Indians by nine.

A crowd of 70,000 is expected to be on hand for the 8 p.m. kickoff of what may produce one of college football's all-time thrillers. It was 20-20 a year ago.

Another good example is UCLA's last three games. They've been decided in a span of 46 seconds — the Bruins losing a heartbreaker to Texas, 20-17, in the final 12 seconds; a 41-40 backbreaker to Oregon in the last 30 seconds; and then nipped Cal, 24-21, with just four seconds remaining.

Stanford goes into the game with a 3-0 mark, only unbeaten record in conference play, and a 5-1 record over-all. They lost to Purdue while making the mistake of looking ahead to USC the following week. UCLA is 2-1 in Pacific-8 play and 4-2 for the season.

A Stanford victory will virtually wrap up the Rose Bowl assignment for the Indians barring a complete collapse in their remaining three conference tests. A UCLA victory will throw the bowl bid up for grabs among Stanford, the Bruins and the winner of today's USC-Oregon game.

Providing the major fireworks tonight will be the aerial exhibitions of Stanford's Jim Plunkett, the all-time NCAA total offense leader and the top candidate for the coveted Heisman Trophy award.

UCLA's brilliant Dennis Dummit, who has broken nine school passing records and tied two others in 16 games as a Bruin, and needs only one more touchdown pass for still another mark. He is tied with Paul Cameron for career TD passes with 25.

Plunkett's supporting cast generally is rated superior to Dummit's.

"The Indians," Long goes on, "have fine running backs in fullback Hilary Shockley (220) and halfback Jackie Brown (200). Shockley supplies the power, Brown the speed."

"The receivers, as a group, are as good as you'll find in college ball — flanker Randy Vataha, tight end Bob Moore, Jack Lasater and Demea Washington at split end, and Brown coming out of the backfield."

Long also points out that the Indians have a tremendous rush with their four interior linemen — the "Thunder Chickens" — and have excellent linebacking headed by Jeff Simon, who has been outstanding this season.

IT'S 'NEW' SEASON FOR WICHITA STATE

Combined News Services

The college football season reaches the midway point today, but for the Wichita State team it's the beginning of a rehabilitation program — a new start for a program decimated by an Oct. 2 plane crash in Colorado.

The Wheatshockers resume their season in Little Rock tonight against the ninth-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks.

The game will be the first for Wichita State since the crash which killed coach Ben Wilson and 13 players.

Forty-three freshmen have been given permission by the NCAA to play on the squad, which also includes only three seniors.

Coach Frank Broyles said the Razorbacks were "proud that we're having a chance to help them recover from their tragedy. They need to play the game if they're to continue their program and develop their players."

Broyles said Arkansas fans "have a chance to lead the nation in showing Wichita the way back."

"They will be fired up and we won't be. I believe they will make us hustle to gain our expected advantage."

WSU coach Bob Seaman plans to start either Rick Baehner or Tom Owen, both freshmen, at quarterback.

"Some of these young men are going to grow up in a hurry Saturday night," Seaman said. "The young men will come to play. Playing football is absolutely the best therapy that could have happened to them."

Ohio State has been playing Illinois and Texas has met Rice annually since 1914 . . . and beating them most of the time. Today is expected to be no exception.

Even the fact that the Buckeyes and Longhorns will be away from home doesn't figure to hurt the chances of top-rated Ohio State and runner-up Texas as they try to maintain their 1-2 rankings in the wire service polls.

Waiting in the wings, however, should either one stumble, is third-ranked Notre Dame, which has the weekend off. Nebraska, ranked fourth, entertains Oklahoma State No. 5 Michigan hosts Minnesota and Louisiana State, No. 14, visits sixth-ranked Auburn for a crucial Southeastern Conference clash.

Elsewhere, Boston College visits seventh-ranked Air Force; No. 8 Stanford is at No. 16 UCLA for an important Pacific-8 encounter and 10th-ranked Southern California travels to Oregon.

Nebraska has beaten Oklahoma State eight successive times but the widest margin was 21-6 in 1966. Michigan can't return to the Rose Bowl but the Wolverines would like to beat Minnesota, retain the Little Brown Jug and head toward the Nov. 21 Ohio State showdown unbeaten.

The Auburn LSU contest pits Tigers against Tigers. The Auburn breed grows an offense—fourth nationally in total offense, fifth in passing — while LSU's Bengals prefer defense — tied for seventh over-all and tops against the run.

Other games involving Second Ten teams include Florida at No. 11 Tennessee; No. 12 Arizona State at Texas-El Paso; No. 13 Mississippi at Vanderbilt; Alabama at No. 15 Houston; Miami, Fla. at No. 18 Pitt. Colorado at Missouri and Toledo at Kent State. Colorado and Toledo are tied for 19th. San Diego State, rated 17th, is idle.

Angels Give Tony C. New Name: Box Office

By DON MERRY
Staff Writer

Tony Conigliaro stepped momentarily out of the New Generation and into the Garden Room East of the Hilton Hotel Thursday afternoon.

His department was as stylish as his mod brown, double-breasted check suit, his features as becoming as the salary he expects in command from his new employers — the Angels.

This was the official West Coast unveiling of Tony C. Before the 1971 season is laid to rest his surname may have a revised spelling — box office.

Conigliaro, 25, has a new career. The Angels have apparently acquired an authentic idol.

Admitting he was "still in a state of shock," over the trade which brought him to Anaheim, the articulate bachelor was anything but bewildered by fiscal policy.

"I certainly hope to be a $100,000 ball player," he responded to a question from the floor, adding with a twinkle, "besides, I don't have that far to go. But I'm not telling how far."

When Conigliaro signs his first Angel contract, he will become the highest paid performer in the club's 11-year history. He received an estimated $65,000 from the Red Sox last year, and with 36 homers and 116 RBIs as ammunition, he will receive in the neighborhood of $80,000 for 1971.

Still, there is a twinge of remorse when he discusses the trade and the friends he is leaving behind in Boston.

"It's going to be tough," he admits, "playing away from home and the family, but I've never been one to hang down my head. I'm going to try and do what a No. 4 hitter is expected to do — drive in runs. I know my best years are ahead and I feel certain I can at least duplicate what I did last year."

"I think I've accomplished more in my early years than some players you'll find in the Hall of Fame."

Tony C.'s off the field exploits can rival those of the Harrelsons and the Namaths.

In fact, it was Boston general manager Dick O'Connell who defended the trade by claiming that having Conigliaro and his playboy image on the club along with his younger brother, Billy, was a "liability."

"I think he was misquoted," Tony answered.

He has authored a book ("Seeing It Through") recounting his travail following his beaming in 1967. He has made records and he is in the process of crashing Hollywood's gates with a part in "The Godfather."

He expects to make his off-season home at Newport Beach because "of the lucrative business opportunities in the Los Angeles area," but sighs regrettably about leaving his Boston apartment.

"I just sank $12,000 into it," he says proudly. "It has a wall-to-wall Greek goat hair carpet, bamboo wallpaper, and the wet bar has a thatched roof."

Unhappily for the female population, Conigliaro figures outfielding and marriage is an imprudent mixture.

"No matrimony," he insists, "until I'm through with baseball. I can't anyway because I've got a $1,000 bet which says so."

It is from this man who is single that the Angels expect a lavish assortment of doubles, triples and home runs.

ANGEL ANGLES: Outfielder Winslow Lemas and catcher Randy Niles were added to the 40-man roster Thursday while the contracts of catcher Randy Brown, utility infielder Ray Oyler and pitcher Harvey Shank were assigned to Triple A classification. . . . Lemas hit 136 at Hawaii, missing the PCL batting title by .0003 while Niles hit .305 at El Paso in 38 games before undergoing back surgery in mid-season. . . . Billy Mottley, 40, former pitching coach for the St. Louis Cardinals, was hired by the Angels to serve as minor league pitching instructor, replacing Johnny Soto who was stolen away by the Chicago White Sox. . . . American League batting king Alex Johnson has dates on both Merv Griffin and Johnny Carson shows upcoming.

Warwick Aims for Rams' Jugular in TV Trauma

By AL LARSON
Staff Writer

There are a number of reasons to lab the Minnesota Vikings over the Rams when they skip the social niceties and zero in on each other's jugular Monday night.

The Vikings licked the Rams twice in three weeks last year. Bud Grant's Lavender Hill mob has given up the least points in the NFL, only 36.

In case you missed the Ram-Viking game in the Coliseum last year, Lonnie Warwick was all over the place, patrolling the Ram backfield and exacting a ferocious toll.

"It's more fun to play a great team," says the roughneck middle linebacker, who called a surprising number of blitzes against the Rams in the 20-13 verdict.

"Roman Gabriel's tough. He's as big as I am," the 6-3, 235-pound six-year veteran said Friday as Minnesota stepped up preparations for Monday's TV trauma.

"Remember, if you get the quarterback out you got a better chance to win. That's what makes the game so good."

Wally Hilgenberg, who plays linebacker next to Warwick, says, "Lonnie's as rough and tough as there is. You know the guy in hockey, the policeman, who keep control of everybody, of guys taking shots. . . that's Lonnie."

In the rival camp, Myron Pottius claims no vengeance lurks in his heart.

"That's water over the dam," the Ram middle backer said of last December's playoff loss in Bloomington. "I don't even think about it. I've tried to forget everything that happened back there."

"When we go back there this time, it's a new game. I'll try to get ready for this one the same as if we're getting ready to play another 'physical' team."

"Pottius is playing the best football he's played in five years," Ram defensive coach Tom Callin said Friday. "Not that he hasn't played well before, but I think he had an extra incentive when he came to camp this year in as much as our first draft choice was a middle linebacker (Jack Reynolds)."

"Mo" to his teammates and friends says he'd like to get that numb feeling in his shoulder a few times Monday. "That's what gives you a feeling of satisfaction, that numb feeling in your shoulder that tells you got a good hit."

"Preparing for Minnesota is no different from preparing for Green Bay or any of the league's physical teams," says Mo. "You know there's going to be nothing fancy, not a lot of formations and sets. They just run at you."

SCHUMACHER SUES RAMS FOR $60,800

Former Ram defensive end Greg Schumacher sued the club Friday for $60,800, charging breach of contract.

The 6-foot-2, 240-pound lineman, who was a starter in 1968, was injured during training camp this summer and was waived after playing in two pre-season games.

He claimed in a suit filed in Santa Monica Superior Court that the Rams owe him his 1970 salary, which he said was $26,000 plus bonuses, and 90 per cent of his 1971 salary plus bonuses. Schumacher claimed the $60,800 "would repay him all the club owed on contracts for the two seasons he signed."

The suit contends the Rams were to fulfill the terms of the contract even if he were incapacitated.

RAM NOTES

Viking coach Bud Grant looks for a low-scoring game. "The only way to prepare for playing the Rams is to prepare to meet them headon," Grant said at a news conference, "and that's why you're going to see such a good football game. The Rams are always well prepared. The things they do are all very sound. All afternoon or at night — they are clever to your disadvantage, your weakness. We can't find one weakness whatever in Roman Gabriel the NFL's most valuable player last year. He has great ability and he gives them great leadership. Now Larry Smith and Les Josephson are both recovered from injuries and back in the Rams' backfield. That may give their offense some more spark — as if they needed it."

Running back Dave Osborn, the Vikings' leading rusher, said the offensive team has "got our confidence and timing back the last couple of weeks," during the 24-0 victory over Chicago and 54-13 romp over Dallas. "Traditionally you find our offense has come around a little slower than our defense," said Osborn. "Then we're about a week behind because of the late start this year — but that applies to everybody."

Paul Dickson, the veteran defensive tackle who came off the bench to play nearly the entire Dallas game, said it takes "an almost flawless performance" to beat the Rams. "The Rams are a solid team, a throwback to the old Green Bay type of team. They don't have the great flashes Dallas does, but then they don't have the peaks and valleys either. Los Angeles is always consistently good."

Kings Engage 'Big Bad Blues' Tonight

Who's afraid of the big, bad Blues?

Not the Kings, says coach Larry Regan, ignoring the record that shows St. Louis has won the last 15 games between the clubs, including all eight last season and a four-game sweep of the 1969 Stanley Cup semifinals.

"This club has never been beaten by St. Louis," Regan points out, "so it doesn't mean a damn thing."

He means that the Blues will be looking at a different King lineup when they face off at the Forum at 8 tonight. Only Eddie Joyal and Bill Flett were on the last King club that beat St. Louis, 4-2, on Feb. 4, 1969, at the Forum.

The Blues won't look quite the same, either. All-Star center Red Berenson went out with strained knee ligaments after scoring six goals in the first five games.

All-Star defenseman Al Arbour is now the coach. All-Star goalie Jacques Plante was drafted away by Toronto.

"But they're still the champions (of the National Hockey League's West Division) so we still have to beat them," Regan says, speaking cautiously again.

Girls Enter Drag Boat Race Sunday

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Staff Writer

Although women racing drivers have been banned from the November Outboard World Championships at Lake Havasu City, two will be in action Sunday when the blown fuel hydros go into action at Marine Stadium.

They are Mary Rife, North Long Beach, and Geri Youngblood, who will be in the pit area along with many male drivers. In fact, Mary may enter an unblown fuel class boat.

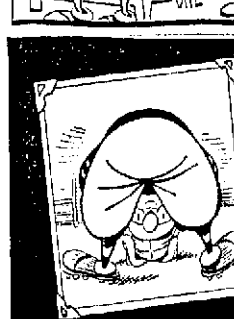

Sunday will mark the final day of the three-day National Drag Boat Assn.'s world championship events. On Friday, the boats had warmup heats. Today's races, approximately 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., will be mostly for the jet and ski classes, with the fueled boats going Sunday.

Danny Churchill, the Riverside strong boy, will attempt to break Chuck Stearns' world speed record on the single ski of 122.11 miles per hour when wind and water conditions are just right, possibly this afternoon. Churchill, former state wrestling champion while attending Riverside City College, will be towed by Mac Christensen of Downey in Crucifier, capable of doing more than 110 mph when using unblown fuel.

Churchill and Christensen teamed for 111 mph. at Skiland last June when Sally Younger, Hacienda Heights, set the world speed mark for women at 105.14.

'JUDGMENT CALL'—HAMILTON

Deny Cal's TD Protest

SAN FRANCISCO — Thomas Hamilton, executive director of the Pacific-8 Conference, said Friday "there's nothing this office can do" about the disputed touchdown in UCLA's football victory over California last week.

Hamilton's ruling overturned a protest filed by Cal coach Ray Willsey, who said UCLA quarterback Dennis Dummit never reached the goal line on the game's decisive play. Officials ruled that Dummit did cross the scoring stripe with four seconds remaining last Saturday to give the Bruins a 24-21 triumph.

"There is no recourse to a judgment call by the officials, who must make instantaneous decisions on all plays," Hamilton said. "On the disputed touchdown play it was the judgment of the officials that the ball crossed the plane of the goal line within the sidelines before it was dead. They were in good position to make the call."

Willsey submitted to Hamilton on Monday a game film and isolated photos from the contest.

Veterans Boycott Clay Bout

Combined News Services

Strong action by three military veterans' organizations Friday in Scranton, Pa., resulted in the cancellation of the scheduled closed circuit telecast of the Cassius Clay-Jerry Quarry fight from Atlanta on Monday night.

On Wednesday the District 11 American Legion, representing 33 posts and 7,000 members in Lackawanna County, called for a boycott of the telecasts. It was followed by a similar request by the Disabled American Veterans commander, Stephen Shebby, who urged a picket line if necessary.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars District 10 commander, William Maszynski, speaking for 4,000 members in Lackawanna and Wayne Counties, said that last August in Miami Beach, Fla., resolution 267 of the VFW national convention "opposed permission for Clay to box anywhere in the United States." Maszynski's message was a two-word, "don't go."

Letters of protest were written to Bishop J. Carroll McCormick of the Scranton diocese protesting the use of the Catholic Youth Center for the telecast. Friday the announcement came from Bishop Carroll and the CYC that the project had been cancelled.

Nedouble

Returns to Wars

Nodouble, coming off a four-month layoff, will race a shorter distance for a smaller purse than usual in today's $50,000-added

Nodouble, a 5-year-old owned by Verna Lea

Farm, normally races longer in $100,000 races, and has won enough of them to become the second leading money winner among active thoroughbreds with $846,749, behind only Fort Marcy at $943,280.

Nodouble won the San Pasqual and Metropolitan handicaps earlier this year, before a blond condition sidelined him last June. Now, his owners hope to use the seven-furlong test for 3-year-olds and up to

mile $100,000 Jockey Gol

Cup next Saturday.

Nodouble was installed the 3-1 favorite, and was top-weighted at 126 pounds with jockey Jorge Tejeira.

His top challengers were expected to be Calumet Farm's Best Turn, 11-10; winner of two stakes this year, with Laffitt Pincus up; Great Mystery, 11-1; and Ocean Bar, 11-3.

In the $25,000-added Belmont Stakes, jockey Laffitt Pincus was the favorite at Garden State Park. Rocky Mount was given a high weight at 116 in the 12 of 12. The race was won by

Will New Year Lack Lombardo?

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

The past New Year's eve was, for numerous TV viewers, a total loss simply because Guy Lombardo wasn't on any channel in this area.

This month the "Hollywood Reporter," a trade paper, carried an advertisement for the ABC Films feature, "New Year's Eve With Guy Lombardo." ABC Films in Hollywood says it doesn't know if the program will air in this area — "it hasn't been sold yet."

You may have to get through another year without Lombardo's New Year's Eve "Auld Lang Syne."

"STOREFRONT LAWYERS," which reportedly was a shaky new entry on CBS, now has been assured a full season run. The show was tied for 58th place with "The Interns" in the Oct. 5-11 Nielsen ratings.

Other ratings for the period continue to indicate the silent TV majority is still favoring "Marcus Welby, M.D." which topped the ratings.

Others in the top 10, in order, were Bob Hope's special; Lucille Ball, "Gunsmoke," "Bonanza," Flip Wilson, "Ironside," movie, "But I Don't Want to Get Married," "Haw" and "Medical Center."

Down at the bottom of the rating list are these new shows: "Silent Force," "Matt Lincoln," "Dan August," "The Young Lawyers," "The Young Rebels," "Barefoot in the Park," "The Odd Couple," "Most Deadly Game," "Four-in-One: McCloud" and Don Knotts and Tim Conway shows. "Arnie" moved up in the latest ratings to 32nd place; Andy Griffith's "Headmaster" moved from 53rd to 39th.

"McCloud," which left the air last Wednesday with Dennis Weaver as the New Mexico deputy still on leave in New York helping out the Gotham police department, will be succeeded this Wednesday by "San Francisco International Airport." It is not known whether you'll ever see him again, and from the ratings, apparently too many people are not in tears.

NBC announced that "Doc Serling's Night Gallery" will open in the "Four-in-One" format on Dec. 16 and "The Psychiatrist," Feb. 3 which will finish out the season.

THE PROFIT and gloss of witchcraft, which seems to engage the interests of some people, will be examined in a series of five "mini-documentaries" on the 5 and 10 p.m. editions of the Ch. 5 news Monday through Friday.

Newsman John Marshall interviews self-proclaimed witches, examines the commercial aspects of the "occult boom" and talks with Dr. Robert Ellwood, who teaches a course in witchcraft at USC.

ANTHONY QUINN will host an hour show on KMEX, Ch. 34, at 9 p.m., Nov. 1, designed to publicize educational opportunities, through scholarships, available to Mexican-American students in Eastern universities.

The show, titled "Las Puertas Se Abren," will feature George Kehm, associate director of admissions at Yale University, and students from the Southern California area.

Leave It To Larry

A great deal of unnecessary violence can be avoided by the use of a quick wit such as what occurred last Tuesday night.

A little skinny fellow was sitting at a bar alongside a huge young stranger, when the small chap struck up a conversation—the entirety of which related to his personal prowess on the gridiron as the smallest quarterback in uniform! When the big youngster was asked from what college he graduated, he lamely mentioned "Ashkosh U."

"Ashkosh U?" Sneered the blow-hard—"Why, all they ever had there were poor football players and co-eds of questionable morals!"

At this, his new found acquaintance bellowed, "I'll have you know I met my wife there," whereupon the runt answered glibly, "What position did she play?"

MR. CLEAN ON PARIS SHELVES

Frenchmen Have 'Monsieur Propre,' Too

(NOTE: Staff member Charles Hinch is on leave, in France. After "great difficulty" in finding an apartment in Paris, he and his wife, Robin, are concentrating on studying the country.)

By CHARLES HINCH
Staff Writer

The most surprising thing to an American visiting in Paris is the remarkable amount of business American companies are doing here.

Their products and their signs are everywhere. If you stop in the bedding department of the major department stores, the sign that hangs over them all is Springmaid. If you stop at the drug store, it's Gillette, Colgate, Mennen. (Agitez la bombe, say the instructions on the shaving cream can. "Tenez la bombe verticale. Pressez le bouton.")

At the soap counter, it's Lux, Camay, Safeguard. Ajax seems to be in every French kitchen and Mr. Clean (Monsieur Propre here) is on every shelf.

Mobil, Shell and Esso seem to have the gasoline market cornered and Pepsi Cola and Cokes appear on the tables of the sidewalk cafes more often than cafe au lait.

Splashed on billboards all over the city are big replicas of the instant coffee "Maxwell" that Maxwell House Coffee is promoting.

well House Coffee is promoting.

"Son plus sérieux rival," says the ad, "c'est votre bon vieux filtre." Maxwell's only serious rival, the sign assures the French, is their good old filter.

A PUBLICATION OF THE U.S. Department of Commerce reports there are 523 affiliates, subsidiaries and branches of American manufacturing and service companies operating in France.

The Paris office of the American Chamber of Commerce reports 230 of the firms actually manufacture and market their products here.

Figures are available for the years 1962 to 1968, the chamber said, which show American businesses invested 5.48 billion francs in French commerce over those years. The sum is well over $1 billion.

General Motors is making earth-moving equipment. Hallmark is making cards. Campbell Soup is making cookies. The Bank of America not only has branches in Paris, but in Marseille and Lyon as well.

Litton Industries has one of the fanciest addressers in Paris, 29 Rue du Faubourg St. Honore, for its Litton Business Systems, France.

THE LARGEST AMERICAN FIRM here appears to be the international Telephone and Telegraph Company of New York. It has 13 French subsidiaries and affiliates employing 20,000.

Some Southland firms with offices here are El Monte's Aerojet General, Boise Cascade, Irvine's Dana Laboratories, Inc., and the City of Industry's Northrup Architectural Systems Co. This last would be hard to find. It's known as the Societe D'Etudes Et De Prefabrication.

Two other aspects of American life that have taken root here are laundromats and supermarkets.

Unknown six years ago, laundromats (laveries automatiques) have sprung up all over the city. The telephone book lists over 100.

Indoctrinating the French to their use was difficult at first, said one owner.

"They would come in, dump their laundry in front of me and expect me to do it."

SHE HAD TO PATIENTLY explain the procedure before the people of her neighborhood became accustomed to it and accepted it.

The woman, whose place is a half-mile southeast of the Eiffel Tower, said she had to replace her American washing machines with Swiss.

"The French don't bathe very often," she said. "They wear the same clothes day in and day out.

American machines are made for a cleaner populace. These Swiss machines," she said, patting one of them, "really boil the clothes. They're the only ones for a Frenchman."

Supermarkets are not so numerous, apparently because of the high cost of land in Paris and because they're having a little rougher sledding against the Frenchman's natural resistance to change.

The French housewife shops each day for that day's meals at her neighborhood butcher's, her neighborhood vegetable and fruit dealer and delicatessen-creamery. They usually stand side-by-side on a corner, their products displayed on out-door counters under roofs of green canvas.

THE HOUSEWIFE NEVER TOUCHES the food she buys. The merchants drop her purchases into her "filet," a net-like receptacle that seemingly stretches to unlimited proportions.

The number of supermarkets, however, are growing. They're popping up in the suburbs particularly. Many Parisians feel that when refrigerators and freezers become a regular part of the French kitchen, old customs will be displaced entirely.

LONG BEACH, CALIF., SATURDAY, OCT. 24, 1970

A $1.25 million mortgage loan has been arranged by Wallace Moir Company between a pension fund client and a group of Orange County doctors who are developing the 114-bed Fountain Valley Community Hospital.

The hospital loan, the first arranged by the Beverly Hills mortgage banking firm, is for the construction of a one-story, acute care community hospital with full surgical and pulmonary services.

The facility will include emergency and recovery rooms, laboratory and X-ray facilities.

The 68,000-square-foot structure is located on the east side of Euclid Street just south of Warner Avenue.

Fountain Valley Medical Development Co., a limited partnership of 28 doctors, is developing the project schedule for completion in mid-1971.

Construction is by Sunset Builders.

The broker is Crawshaw Mortgage & Investment Co. The interim lender is Bank of California, Santa Ana.

TG & Y STORE . . . Grows In L.B.

TG&Y STORES COMPANY is one of the fastest growing variety-general merchandise chains in the country. The company was founded in 1936 at Oklahoma City, the firm's headquarters city.

It operates 800 stores in 30 states, with the western division is made up of 120 California and Nevada stores.

TG&Y maintains three classes of stores: the traditional variety store which contains up to 12,000 square feet; the variety-department store unit which is in the 12,000 square foot size range; the family center which ranges from 20,000 to over 100,000 square feet.

The stores are wholly company-owned, and TG&Y operates as an autonomous division of City Products Corporation.

Company officials predict the chain will have nearly 1,200 stores operating by 1974, with annual sales of $500 million.

BUILDERS CAUTIOUS

State's Sluggish Housing Industry Seen in Upswing

California's sluggish housing industry should end the year on an upswing that will carry over into 1971, Wells Fargo Bank experts believe.

The bank's monthly Business Review said that largely because of strong government support for the mortgage market the number of residential permits authorized jumped from a seasonally adjusted rate of 158,000 units in the first quarter to an estimated 180,000 in the third quarter.

"Further gains are in view," Harold Burna, vice president and manager, economics department, said.

"The total for the year will probably reach 175,000, just slightly behind last year."

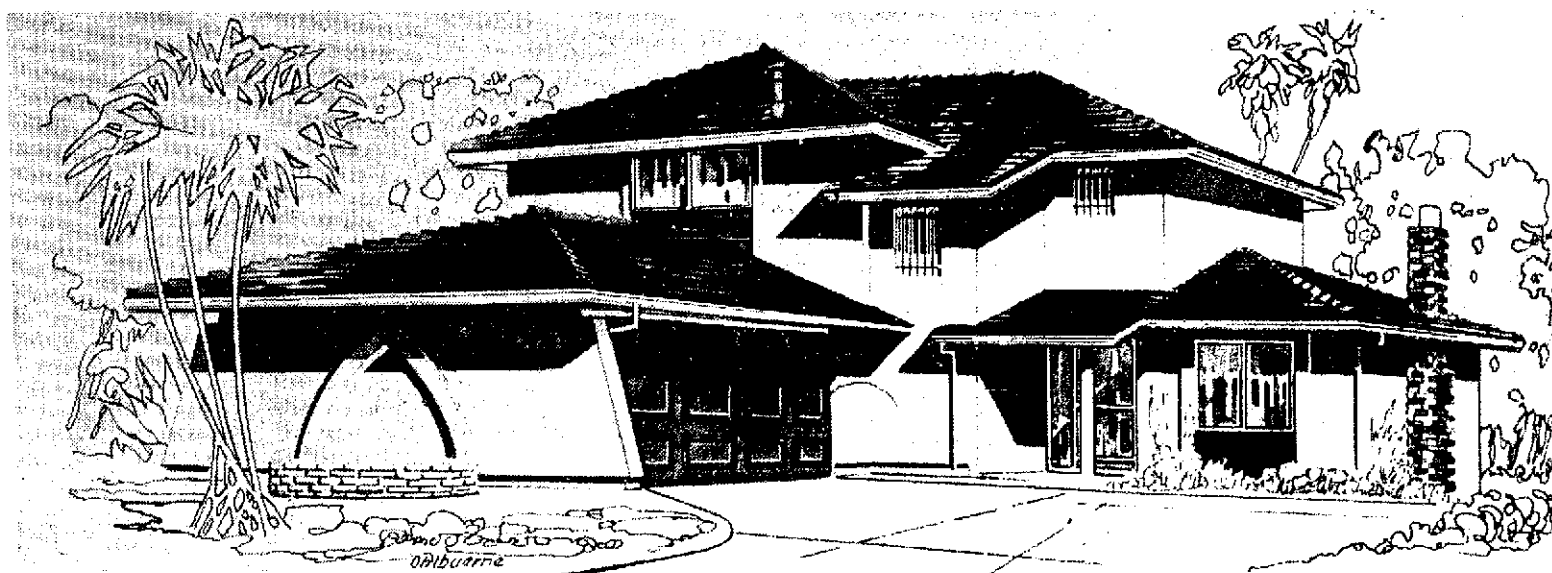

He added that permits are expected to total 190,000 units next year — nearly 9 per cent above the level estimated for the current year and the highest level of housing since 1964.

All the housing strength this year was concentrated in Northern California, notably in the apartment category.

Southern California, hurt by aerospace layoffs, is expected to end up with 1970 housing authorizations about 10 per cent below 1969.

"BUT SOME MODERATE IMPROVEMENT is expected during 1971 in the south as mortgage funds be-

Peninsula Verde Homes in 'Prestige Area'

LUXURIOUS TWO-STORY HOME . . . Peninsula Verde Units Complete With Scenic Views

Tucked away on the east slope of Palos Verdes hills, a 60-home development named Peninsula Verde Homes has been attracting attention from potential buyers seeking a home in the prestige Palos Verdes area.

Built by Jacmar Groves, Inc., the tract occupies one of the last remaining scenic view areas in the locale.

Located on Western Avenue just south of Palos Verdes Drive North, Peninsula Verde offers sweeping panoramic views of both Los Angeles and the ocean to the south.

Peninsula Verde Homes is offering 6.9 per cent interest to buyers who can make an approximate 22 per cent down payment. It is one of the very few housing developments in the Southern California area to have this financial arrangement.

A SPANISH architectural theme has been incorporated, in keeping with the colorful history of the area that once formed part of the famous Rancho of the Green Trees.

Five basic models with a variety of floor plans offer buyers a choice of three, four and five bedrooms. They range in size from 1,800 square feet to 2,500 square feet, one and two-story, and are available from $44,500.

The rapidly rising costs of housing will soon make current home prices a relic of the past, according to Michael J. Russo Sr., the builder.

"The house that a buyer purchases today will cost thousands of dollars more to duplicate within the next few months. There is absolutely no way to avoid it."

"THE CURRENT increases that have negotiated in labor contracts throughout the building industry, plus the increasing costs of materials, offer no alternative but considerably higher prices.

Some of these wage increases have already gone into effect; some will continue at the rate of one and two increases per year for the next three years; and other contracts are due for renegotiation and inevitable wage rises,"

Russo contends.

"In essence," says Russo, "the person that buys a home today will save himself a bundle of money from what he'd pay for equivalent quality a year from now."

The climate plays a major role in making Peninsula Verde Homes attractive to buyers. Ocean breezes have generally kept the smog away from the area despite the problems being incurred at other parts of the general Los Angeles county boundaries.

THERE ARE several well-known tourist attractions nearby: Marineland and Ports 'O Call Village.

Peninsula Verde offers the convenience of being close to golf courses, schools, shopping centers, recreational beaches, and small boat marinas. Two major freeways — the Harbor and San Diego — are within minutes of every home.

Features of the homes include fireplaces, extensive use of ceramic tile in kitchens and bathrooms, wall-to-wall carpeting, underground utilities.

Sears Announces $20 Million Building in Southland

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

Sears, Roebuck and Co. this week announced plans for the erection of one of its largest buildings in the West.

The structure, part of the firm's Los Angeles Catalog Order Plant, will total more than 1.5 million square feet on five levels and a basement and will cost more than $20 million.

Construction is under way with completion scheduled for spring of 1972, according to John C. Grable, general manager of the East Los Angeles building complex.

The new structure, along with the existing catalog order plant at Olympic Boulevard and Soto Street in Los Angeles, will total more than three million square feet.

The distribution center is located northwest of the current plant and adjacent to the Southern Pacific roadway in the Boyle Heights area.

Diversified Builders Inc. is the prime contractor responsible for construction and management.

The building's dimensions are 363 feet by 705 feet by 124 feet or equivalent to a standard 12-story building. Each of its first five levels is 24 feet from floor to floor, and the sixth level offers roof storage.

Levels one through five will be equipped with an automatic merchandise-conveying system, enabling the movement of goods from the receiving area to any part of the plant.

In addition to this ramped system, the structure will feature four freight and one passenger elevators.

On distribution center's main level, two full length railroad sidings will enable freight cars to be moved into the building for unloading.

Branch Renovation

Construction is underway on a major expansion and modernization of Bank of America's Paramount branch, announced vice president and manager John W. Holloway.

Major element in the $100,000 renovation will be the construction of an 118-square-foot section at the rear of the branch to house two exterior walk-up deposit windows.

In addition, the escrow department, merchants' deposit section and officers' platform area will be expanded and a new conference room built in the front of the building.

Railings surrounding the officers' area will be removed to provide a modern "open" look and all new check writing counters, furniture, carpeting, draperies, wall coverings and interior decor will be installed. The branch building also will be repainted, inside and out.

Holloway said arrangements have been made to minimize customer inconvenience during the construction period.

Women at Work

The overall wage gap between men and women in the U.S. work force has been widening in recent years, according to The Chase Manhattan Bank.

"Women's occupations in terms of their position in the economic hierarchy haven't been upgraded much over the years," the bank reports in its bimonthly economic newsletter, Business in Brief.

In 1955, the median wage of women employed full-time and year-round was 64 per cent of the median male paycheck, the report says. But by 1968 the median wage for women had dropped to 58 per cent of that for men.

The bank attributes this decline to several factors including: (1) that women are generally employed in lower-paying, lower-level jobs than men; and (2) that the marked increase in women in the labor force has created greater competition for the jobs open to them, thereby tending to depress wages in those jobs.

The report says several obstacles must be overcome if women are to make substantial gains in their efforts to achieve equal status and equal pay with men.

For example, women would have to achieve greater breakthroughs in such male-dominated fields as engineering and medicine if they are successfully to offset a growing surplus in the number of teachers as well as changing patterns in clerical fields.

Both of these are likely to result in decreased job opportunity in areas which have traditionally relied heavily on women.

Mixed Trends

September business conditions in Southern California's 10-county region reflected mixed trends but continued to remain virtually unchanged from July and August levels, Security Pacific National Bank reported.

In its Southern California monthly business index, Security Pacific's economic research department estimated September conditions dropped slightly to 206.0 (1957-1959 equals 100) from 206.1 in August and 206.3 in July. Current business activity levels rose 3.3 per cent over the September 1969 mark but declined 0.9 per cent from an all-time high of 207.9 recorded last May.

"Our September analysis points to mixed trends among available seasonally adjusted business index components on an August to September comparison," said Arch Hardymont, vice president and administrator of Security Pacific's economic research department.

"We noted a 4.8 per cent gain in bank deposits and a 3.1 per cent jump in building permits contrasted to a 2.8 per cent drop in real estate sales and a 7.2 per cent lag in department store sales."

Employment in Southern California during August — according to latest available figures — reached an all-time high, an increase of 7,600 over a revised July total and 58,900 more than a year ago.

The seasonally adjusted work force totaled 4,743,500 for the eight counties of Imperial, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Ventura.

Concurrently, for the 32nd consecutive month, aerospace wage and salary workers declined to a seasonally adjusted August total of 379,500.

More Housing Starts

Total private housing starts in the U.S. during 1971 should reach 1.70 million units, according to Dr. Raymond Jallow, senior vice president and chief economist for United California Bank.

Speaking in Fresno to the San Joaquin Valley Chapter of the National Society of Controllers and Financial Officers of Savings Institutions, Dr. Jallow pointed out that this building activity would represent a sharp increase over the 1970 total of 1.42 million units.

In line with the national pattern, homebuilding in California is expected to rebound in 1971. Dr. Jallow said. About 180,000 units should be authorized during the year, an increase of slightly over 9 per cent from the 1970 total of 165,000 units. Multiple units will account for 62 per cent of the state's 1971 homebuilding count, as compared to 60 per cent in 1970.

The year 1971 will develop into a strong year for residential construction, Dr. Jallow feels, because of the combination of high housing demand and fairly widespread housing shortages. Additionally, more money will become available for mortgages, interest rates are expected to decline slightly, and more federal aid is in sight.

However, certain problems which have plagued the housing industry in recent years will still be in evidence in 1971.

Most notable is the increasing cost of land, labor, and building materials. Despite some reduction in interest rates, the banker expects that financing charges will remain at historically high levels. Another factor which inhibits prospective home owners from buying is the spiraling cost of home ownership, which includes taxes, insurance, utilities, and maintenance.

Dr. Jallow called the group's attention to an important change of trend in homebuilding. Up until 1968, when the tight money market and accelerating mortgage interest rates began to exert their influence, there was a good market for housing in every price range.

In 1970, however, it became clear that the greatest demand was for housing and apartments in the lower price ranges. The greatest strength lay in the lowest priced housing, while the market at $30,000 and above became depressed.

Hartfield-Zodys Buying Into Karl's

Hartfield-Zodys, Inc. and Karl's Shoe Stores, Ltd. have announced a definitive contract had been signed for the purchase for cash by Hartfield-Zodys of a majority equity interest directly from Karl's.

An agreement in principle concerning the transaction was previously announced. No shares are to be purchased from the existing shareholders of Karl's.

UAW Strike Cost in Wages Grows

The United Auto Workers strike against General Motors has cost strikers in California over $10 million in lost wages through Oct. 20. The strike began Sept. 15, company officials estimate.

The strike has idled 11,285 GM employees in California. Included are 6,625 employees at three GM facilities in the Los Angeles area and 4,660 employees at two northern California operations.

The weekly loss in wages, excluding fringe benefits, is nearly $1.2 million in southern California and nearly $850,000 in northern California, says GM.

The strike also is having an economic impact on more than 3,000 California suppliers who provide goods and services to GM.

It is expected the transaction will be consummated on Oct. 30. Karl's will be operated as an autonomous subsidiary of Hartfield-Zodys under the present operating management of Karl's.

Envirogenics Names Four Key Executives

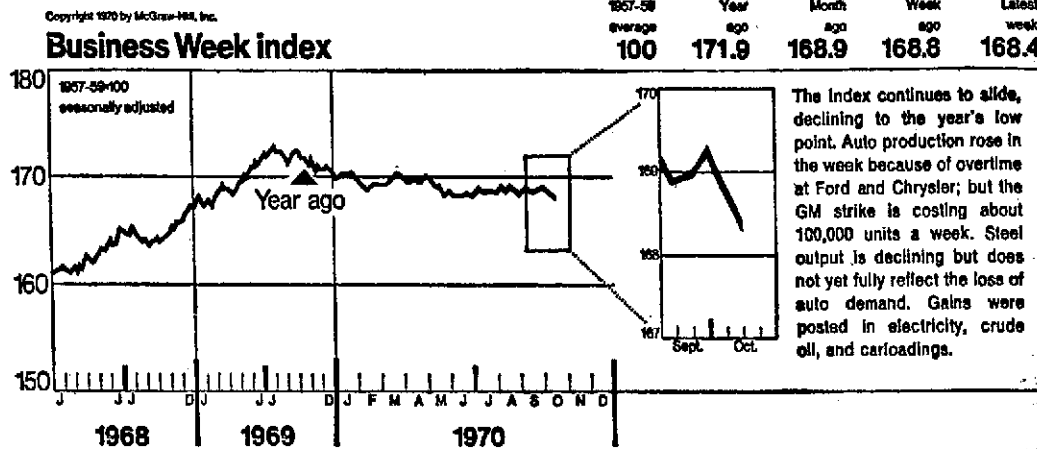

Dr. E. R. Roberts, president of the Envirogenics Company, El Monte, a newly formed environmental organization of Aerojet-General Corporation, has named four veteran executives as key officers.

The new officers are Louis R. Rapp, vice president and operations manager, pollution technology; Paul P. Datner, vice president and operations manager, desalination systems; Marshal A. Beck, vice president and operations manager, Cryogenic Systems, and William F. Wilt, vice president and general manager, Graver Tank and Manufacturing Company, a division of Envirogenics.

Envirogenics was recently formed as a divisional company of Aerojet-General Corporation with its own officers and staff. It represents a merger of Aerojet's former Environmental Systems Division and the recently acquired Graver Tank and Manufacturing Company.

Aerojet is a subsidiary of The General Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio.

Ford, Chrysler in Overtime 'Step Up'

Despite feeble gains in three components, the Index dropped again in the current week.

Auto output went up 1.9 per cent, reflecting stepped up overtime by Ford and Chrysler. General Motors output remained frozen by UAW strike.

Steel production dropped 9.9 per cent, the slowdown in orders by auto industry is one of many cutbacks in ordering that is pulling the steel industry 11.7 per cent below its year ago level.

Crude oil refinery runs rose 1.8 per cent, electric power output gained 1.5 per cent.

Miscellaneous carloadings gained 1.2 per cent; all other carloading increased 9.5 per cent. Intercity truck tonnage lost 0.4 per cent.

Paperboard production fell 3.4 per cent — down 10.1 per cent below a year ago.

THE REAL POSSIBILITY of a steelworkers' strike next August is sure to have as much effect on the U.S. economy in 1971 as the strike against General Motors Corp. is having this year, Industry Week said last week.

At first, the threat of a steelworkers' strike will spur steel operations and the rest of the nation's economy. Companies that consume steel will be stockpiling the material during the first seven months of next year, the business magazine pointed out. Foreign competition will be heightened, too, as imported steel is acquired by hedgers.

After stockpiling of steel is completed, a letdown is certain for the steel industry. It will either be closed down by a strike or have but little business from steel laden consumers.

Steel deliveries from U.S. mills during the first seven months of next year could run about 65 million tons, the limit of present shipping ability, a major producer said. In the similar strike danger period of 1968, volume hit a record 63 million tons.

Steel imports are seen approaching 16 million net tons next year compared with 14 million tons in 1969 and less than that this year. Steel importers, who usually insist on term contracts during periods of inventory buildup, want customers to buy earlier and over a longer period than usual in 1971, a situation that will inflate the volume of foreign steel in the first half, Industry Week said.

Trucks in which to haul steel during the stockpiling in 1971 won't be in much better supply than they were during the 1968 buildup of steel, but service should be uninterrupted. That's the impression gained from William J. Hill, president, Fraternal Assn. of Specialty Haulers.

THE OUTLOOK FOR THE REST of 1970 is gloomy for all industries as the weak economy and the GM strike team up. Layoffs and cutbacks are spreading in steel and a variety of other industries, and profits again are being squeezed badly.

In the business contraction, some of the Great Lakes ore boats are laying up early for the season rather than running until winter closes navigation. Three of the vessels are in the Buffalo, N.Y., harbor. They are filled with wheat for winter storage for a flour milling company.

Current ordering of steel is at the lowest level since the period following inventory building against a strike that didn't happen in 1968. October shipments from U.S. mills are seen slipping to 6.5 million net tons of steel from 7.5 million tons in September.

Reflecting the business slowdown, raw steel production has declined four consecutive weeks. Usually, steel production rises at this time of year. Industry Week estimates that U.S. raw steel output in the week ended Oct. 17 was 2,424,000 net tons compared with 2,440,000 tons the preceding week.

Steel scrap prices, which had been rising, have turned down in the face of low demand. Steel mills need less scrap now that production has declined. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steel-making scrap dropped to $41.33 a gross ton from the previous week's $43.25.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

U.S. Could Imitate Japanese Car

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At the end of World War II, as you know, Japan was economically devastated. But today, as you know, Japan ranks as one of the world's great industrial nations.

If present growth continues, it is likely that before the end of the century the Japanese economy will outstrip that of her World War II conqueror which, as you know, was the United States.

Why am I telling you these things that you already know? Because there is a lesson to be learned from them.

The key to Japan's remarkable recovery is a decision that her industrial leaders made in the early post-war years. What they did was convert Japan's entire industrial capacity to the production of imitation Zippo lighters.

That flooded the market and soon Japanese-made imitation Zippos were out-selling the genuine article. Ever since then, the Japanese economy has been booming.

KEEPING this in mind, let us now consider that the U.S. auto industry presently is engaged in a mighty struggle with West Germany for small car supremacy.

General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors all have brought out new little cars to challenge the Volkswagen.

While the outcome of this confrontation remains to be seen, a number of auto trend observers have expressed doubt that little American cars will be able to overthrow the little German car.

Indeed, the consensus seems to be that the little German car's stronger competition will come from little Japanese cars.

Should this prove to be the case, the U.S. auto industry will then have only one course open.

Applying the lesson learned from Japan's success with imitation Zippos, the U.S. auto industry should begin production of imitation Japanese cars.

In other words, it should bring out a small oriental-type car that runs on lighter fluid.

ALTHOUGH no comparative studies have yet been made, it is quite possible that cars fueled by lighter fluid would create a lot less air pollution than cars fueled by gasoline. Which would be a big selling point itself.

Instead of a carburetor, the American-made imitation Japanese car would have a wick. And for a starter it would use a piece of flint.

I'm confident a vehicle of this type would soon dominate the small car market. Provided the Japanese don't produce one that runs on soy sauce.

Mobile Home, Recreation Show Draws Open Road

Open Road Industries, one of the world's largest manufacturers of recreational vehicles, will unveil its "total-concept" roster of 1971 campers, motor homes and "Space Era" travel-trailers to visitors at the Trailer Coach Association's annual Mobile Home and Recreation Show, Wednesday through Nov. 1 at Dodger Stadium.

Alan Robin, president of the public corporation headquarters at Redondo Beach, said the premier of the '71 models will consist of four basic lines: slide-in campers, chassis-mount house cars, motor homes and travel trailers.

SOON TO celebrate its 10th anniversary, Open Road has grown from a 10-man operation in a modest Culver City plant to its present stature as a manufacturer of recreational travel vehicles.

A pioneer in the "walk-through" concept for chassis-mounted campers, Open Road's assembly-line techniques, based upon that of the automobile industry, has placed luxurious, easy-for-women-to-handle motor homes and campers within the reach of low and middle-income Americans.

Hotel Rates in Big Cut

Del Webb's Sahara Tahoe Hotel has announced a new winter rate schedule for skiers and winter vacationers.

Beginning Nov. 1, and through March 31, the Lake Tahoe hotel is cutting its rates by more than half. The new winter rate is $10 single and $12 double, Sunday through Thursday. On weekends and holidays, a slightly higher rate will be in effect.

"We simply believe it's good business," explained Ron Erickson, executive director of marketing for the casino-resort hotel. "We know we are at the crossroads period in our growth and we believe that the more people who are able to visit our hotel this year, the more 'salesmen' we will have for our property next year."

The Sahara Tahoe is a 600-room casino-resort in the timber country of the High Sierras.

And to make things just a little easier for the last-minute vacationers, the Sahara Tahoe has installed toll free reservation lines from California, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Idaho, Colorado and Wyoming.

Mercury Savings in Growth

Mercury Savings and Loan Association, Orange County-based financial institution, has announced that the first nine months of 1970 produced record growth and earnings led by a consolidated pre-tax earned income gain of 125 per cent as compared with the same period in 1969, the previous record period for the first nine months of any year.

Gross income for the nine month ended Sept. 30, reached $1,820,412, as compared with $1,814,536 for 12 months in 1969, and $1,220,994 for the first nine months of 1969. All figures are consolidated with Hermes financial corporation, a wholly-owned service corporation subsidiary.

SAVINGS showed a net gain of over 42 per cent, the loan portfolio increased by 27 per cent, and total assets climbed by 28 per cent during the nine-month period as compared with year-end 1969.

Per share, pre-tax consolidated income earned for the nine months of 1970 reached $251,008 or 51 cents per share on 492,000 shares, compared with $111,121, or 23 cents per share for the same period in 1969, and $263,600 or 53 cents for all of 1969.

The association does not expect to pay any federal income tax in 1970 because it reports to IRS on a modified cash basis, while other reporting is on an accrual basis. Approximately 20 per cent of earnings will be accrued for future tax liability.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, Beckman earnings totaled $862,213 on sales of $31,124,000 compared with earnings and sales of $875,411 and $31,640,546 in the previous year.

"Although the domestic economy is softer than a year ago," said Dr. William Ballhaus, president, "we have been able to hold sales and earnings at approximately last year's levels."

"The company is continuing to make substantial investments for market and product development in technological areas that show strong long-range promise."

"Areas receiving particular attention are clinical instrumentation and environmental pollution control, fields in which Beckman already has established strong footholds."

"Domestic sales are down, while international sales continue to improve. Unless there is improvement in the domestic economic climate, it will be difficult to maintain or exceed last year's level of sales and profits."

In accepting the resignation of Heineman, who is an executive vice president of Union Bank, the IR directors took special note of Heineman's 12 years of service on the International Rectifier board.

Hayes has had a "distinguished career" as a top executive in electronics and materials technology, two of IR's four fields of interest. Lidow said, and has been Fansteel's chairman since late 1969. For approximately six years prior to that, Hayes was president of Fansteel. From 1954 to 1963, Hayes held several key executive positions with TRW and its predecessor companies, including the presidency of TRW Electronics, Inc.

Insulated Food Trays Keeps Servings Hot

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — More than 50 hospitals use insulated trays that are said to keep the patients' hot food hot and cold food cold for two hours or more. The Temp-Rite tray and system were patented on behalf of Aladdin Industries, Inc., Nashville, Tenn.

Each plastic tray carries a set of disposable dishes, with the necessary covers, to hold a complete bedside meal. The dish compartments are insulated with plastic foam at the sides so that the main course will not warm the salad and dessert. Little protection is needed at the bottom, as the trays are carted about in stacks, with the hot and cold dishes above others in the same temperature range.

John A. Bridges, an engineer for Aladdin Industries, was granted Patent 3,532,247.

A company fact sheet gives as example a typical hospital meal consisting of breast of chicken, whipped potatoes, tossed salad and strawberry ice cream. Served after two hours in the tray, the chicken and potatoes are almost too hot to eat, the salad is crisp, and the ice cream is at a proper 22 degrees.

The Temp-Rite system is to be offered to hotels and motels for room service, and has already been introduced in airline food operations.

UNDER A joint arrangement with the Department of Commerce, the Navy is researching the feasibility of large, fast "captured air bubble" ships. Such vessels have solid side walls and flexible seals at bow and stern. Marine type propulsion is used and the air cushion underneath adds speed.

Two patents for improvements in air bubble ship construction were granted to engineers at the Naval Ship Research and Development Center, Carderock, Md. Allen G. Ford and Robert A. Wilson received

Patent 3,532,180 for improved fore and aft seals intended to provide greater stability. Robert M. Williams was awarded Patent 3,532,176 for contoured side walls designed to minimize frictional drag. The joint surface-effect ship program, which has been under way for four years, is aimed at developing vessels of 4,000 to 5,000 tons displacement capable of 80 knots or higher speed. Under construction are two 100-ton captured air bubble test craft.

WILBUR C. Vaughn of Berwick, Pa., was granted Patent 3,531,900 for a means of protecting wooden telephone poles from woodpeckers.

The utility pole is wound with claw-impervious material such as high-density plastic. The strips overlap from the top down to avoid giving the woodpecker a footing. The lower edges flare so as to aerate the wood. The invention is aimed primarily at the pileated (crested) woodpecker.

PORTS O'PROGRESS

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Marine Editor

The Ports of Long Beach and Los Angeles, frequently chastised for failure to cooperate in endeavors and projects which might be mutually beneficial, have agreed to each provide $5,000 for a regional study of potential development of land and water in the greater San Pedro Bay area.

The money, together with an additional $5,000 allocated by Los Angeles County supervisors, is considered as "seed money" to finance a hunt for possible federal funds which could be tapped to make the extensive study.

However, the Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners made it quite clear to the Ocean Industries Committee, Los Angeles-Long Beach, sponsors of the proposed study that no funds will be used to include a "review of the political or governmental jurisdictional control, present or future, of the ports in San Pedro Bay or recommendations with respect thereto."

In other words, Long Beach wants to hear "no more talk" about merging the two ports.

THE SAN PEDRO FISHERMAN'S Fiesta Committee was rapped on the knuckles this week by the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners for allowing a number of office-seekers to turn the Fiesta into a political rally.

This column concurs that political speech-making during the Fiesta festivities was "a bad show" as labeled by Acting President of the Commission John Royal.

We also feel the committee, while putting forth a tremendous effort to stage a successful Fiesta, is subject to some criticism for the theme they selected for the Parade of Decorated Boats.

Many viewers were puzzled and left to ponder what connection Smokey the Bear had to do with a Fisherman's Fiesta.

One of the boats, attempting to carry out the theme of the parade, America the Beautiful, carried a massive floral effigy of the furry fire fighter.

It would appear selection of a parade theme should be more in keeping with the general theme of the fiesta — fishermen, fishing, and fish!

The parade theme need not be subtle.

The direct approach to a theme such as, "Eat More Tuna," or "Take an Anchovy to Lunch" would seem to be more in keeping with a Fisherman's Fiesta than a smoking-eating bear or a plug for another state, Hawaiian Holiday, or The Statue of Liberty beckoning a welcome to ships arriving in the Port of New York.

Prices Rising

NEW YORK (UPI) — Advertised retail prices in department stores and specialty and general merchandise stores were about 2.1 per cent higher in August than a year earlier, the Bureau of Advertising reported. In August, 1969, advertised prices were up 4.96 per cent from those of August, 1968. The study covered 71 prime items of merchandise advertised by stores in 15 major cities.

Workers Fired

BOSTON (UPI) — Honeywell, Inc., has laid off 300 engineers and research and development workers in its computer operations. The company said the layoffs resulted from consolidation of operations to the recent acquisition of General Electric Co.'s computer manufacturing operations. The company said the personnel reductions have been completed.

Cerritos Village Close to Many Educational Facilities

Summer vacation is over and any family considering moving into a new home must seriously consider the quality and proximity of the educational institutions, according to George D. Buccola, builder of Cerritos Village in Cerritos.

"Today, education is of the utmost importance and the community is surrounded by some of the top-rated schools in the established ABC unified district. The elementary school is within walking distance with the outstanding facilities for junior and senior high schools as well as colleges and universities."

Marshall Graham, district sales manager for Walker & Lee, exclusive sales agents for the community, said, "There is also a special $1 total move-in package available to all qualified veterans to move into a new home in Cerritos Village. The $1 cost includes impounds and all other closing fees. "We know that many veterans just don't have the hard cash necessary for the usual down payment requirement. This program allows them to buy a home for $1 good faith money," Graham said.

THE BUILDER also emphasized these homes were built with the young family in mind, who doesn't have much money to spend but wants a home that they can enjoy and grow into.

Priced from $29,995 to $34,800, these three and four bedroom homes come with two or three baths and a total of 12 exterior designs and many time saving extras.

Included in the total purchase price are wall-to-wall carpeting, shake roofs, concrete driveways and rear yard fencing. Most plans have separate dining areas for formal living as well as large family rooms for informal entertaining.

The complex is located at Norwalk Boulevard and 196th Street and the homes come in both one and two story models.

THIS FIRST unit of 74 homes is in one of the fastest growing areas in Los Angeles County located near many of the finest recreational facilities and shopping plazas.

Stables for renting and boarding horses abound in the area, and there are miles of horse trails alongside the San Gabriel River.

There are also facilities for tennis, golf, swimming and many other exciting outdoor activities.

Many small shopping centers are near the community with a few major commercial centers within a few minutes drive of the complex.

Peak Housing Boom Predicted for 1970s

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Raymond H. Lapin, former president of the Federal National Mortgage Association, predicts this decade will produce the biggest boom in housing in the nation's history — provided money can be found to finance it.

"I believe that we are going to see a boom in housing during the 1970s that will dwarf the high building levels of the 1950s," Lapin said. "Because of the problems of tight money in the past several years, the demand for housing has become enormous."

"Added to that, household formations will increase tremendously. In the next decade the net increase in household formations is expected by the experts to more than quadruple. We have a tremendous demand for all kinds of housing. But we have problems — serious problems — finding the money to finance that great demand."

LAPIN MADE the comments in announcing he has established a new mortgage banking firm, with headquarters in San Francisco. He said he is convinced it will be able to tap new sources of money and provide some of the funds to fuel the boom.

Federal housing experts hope Lapin will be successful in his efforts to obtain money for home loans through the securities markets, from pension and retirement funds and from other large investors.

The government National Mortgage Association, an agency of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, has been searching for new sources of housing money for months. So has the privately-owned but government-sponsored Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA), which Lapin once headed.

LAPIN ALSO said his new company planned to go into partnership with large corporations to issue securities to raise money for home loans.

Home building is just now pulling out of a year-long slump caused mainly by a shortage of money for mortgages. As a result, the nation now faces a housing shortage which Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney says is the worst since World War II.

Lapin made headlines last year when he attempted to defy President Nixon's efforts to fire him as FNMA president. Lapin, a lifelong Democrat, filed suit in the U.S. District Court in Washington against the President, claiming that Nixon could not legally remove him. The suit was withdrawn early this year.

LAPIN WAS appointed FNMA head by former President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1968. At that time, FNMA was a government agency. Later that year, Congress decided to convert the association into a private corporation. It had a joint public-private management for a transition period which ended early this year. It was during the transition period that Nixon fired Lapin.

Lapin argued he had been appointed for the entire transition period and could be removed only for improper conduct. The Republican Administration replied that it did not consider his work to be satisfactory.

Leadership Housing Now Subsidiary of Cerro Corp.

Beginning a new life as a subsidiary of Cerro Corp., Leadership Housing Systems, Inc. has opened its doors with more than 200 employees in the quarters it occupied previously at 901 Dover Drive, Newport Beach.

Formerly a division of Maccos Corp., Leadership Housing Systems was purchased in late September for $9 million in cash and additional future payments.

With 1970 sales expected to top $100 million, Leadership is one of the nation's leading full-range housing producers.

Current activities include five major single-family home developments in Southern California; six apartment projects in Southern California and Texas; ten mobile home retail outlets in California; and mobile home parks in California, Arizona, Texas and Florida.

Details on the new firm's general plans and management personnel were announced by Harrison M. Lasky, president, and Lon B. Rubin, executive vice president. The two men share overall responsibility for the company and were the principal executives of the acquired business.

RANKED 224th on Fortune's list of the nation's top 500 companies, Cerro reported assets of $538 million in 1969.

The firm mines copper, silver, and other non-ferrous metals and is Peru's largest employer. It also manufactures copper wire, cable, and tubing and brass products in seven plants across the United States.

Lasky, who is 38, was executive vice president of Maccos's Leadership Housing Division, having joined the firm in 1968. Previously, he was president of American Housing Guild and senior vice president of Pacific Western Mortgage Co., both of Los Angeles.

Rubin, 37, also had been executive vice president of the Leadership Division. An attorney and an accountant, he joined the firm in 1968, coming from Kaufman & Broad, Inc., where he was second in command in the firm's California Division.

Division managers in the new company include: Darrel Wright, housing; David Riese, apartments and mobile parks; Jerry Johnston, mobile retail sales; Fred Sattes, modular research and development; and Evan Murphy, Texas operations.

Research Aviation Co., a Division of Garret Corp. The job is one facet of a $15 million project that Tri-Cor completed in conjunction with the hangar.

The hangar features a 420-foot clear span in a 58,000 - square - foot building that accommodates 30 aircraft.

Seabury Homes Close to Shop Centers, Schools

A convenient location is one of the most frequently mentioned advantages of Seabury Homes in Huntington Beach.

Six major shopping centers, four new schools, Huntington Beach State Park, and recreation areas are all within a two-mile radius of the new homes, located between Beach Boulevard and Magnolia in Huntington Beach.

"Two of the shopping centers are within walking distance of Seabury," said Ronald Foell, president of Standard-Pacific Corp., and developer of the community.

"All of them include restaurants, supermarkets, drug stores, and several specialty shops. A seventh large shopping center is scheduled to open soon, including a major department store."

Foell said South Coast Plaza, the Huntington Plaza, and Fashion Island, three of the largest shopping centers in Orange County, are within a 15-minute drive of the new homes.

ANOTHER plus for Seabury homeowners is the close proximity to schools. A new junior high school, high school, elementary school and parochial school are all within walking distance of the development.

The three and four-bedroom homes include spacious living rooms with fireplaces, formal dining rooms, lifetime ceramic tile throughout, cultured marble pullmans, wall-to-wall carpeting, private master suites and color-coordinated built-in appliances including dishwasher.

Underground utilities, quality shake and shingle roofing, rear yard fencing, front yard landscaping complete with sprinkler system and concrete driveways are also included in the basic prices, which start at $27,450

Physics International Reports Loss for Year

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. — (BW) — Physics International Co. will report a loss of approximately $200,000 (7 cents a share) after tax credits on sales of $19 million for the year ended Sept. 30, according to a preliminary estimate, by Dr. Wallace Birnbaum, president.

Earnings of approximately $700,000 from all other operations were offset by a loss of approximately $900,000 by its Cintra subsidiary which included a write-off of previously deferred pre-production costs.

Earnings for the year ended Sept. 30, 1969, were $360,327 (16 cents a share) on sales of $10,200,320.

The Cintra loss reflects lower than anticipated sales of its new electronic programmable calculator line during the second half of the year and the write-off of all previously deferred pre-production costs applicable to the calculator.

CHARGER... 500... Smart Styling

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

People have been turning green over new cars for years.

For the past three years, the most popular color for new automobiles has been green. An now a whopping 24.7 per cent of the 1971 Dodge orders call for light, dark or moss green.

The all-new Charger-Coronet models boast the largest single percentage of light green with 14.6 per cent. Of the 32,975 compact Darts and Demons already built, 14.2 per cent are light green.

Following the greens in popularity is blue: light, bright and dark. Almost 19 per cent of the new Dodges are one of these three shades.

The golds command third, and the once very popular white has fallen to a dismal fourth.

"Mod" colors, with names like "Citron Yella" and "Green Go," have evidently captured the hearts of youthful buyers. The combined totals of all five choices reveal 14.1 per cent of the cars are sporting one of these eye-catching hues. "Plum Crazy" Challengers are the most frequent.

Although green has maintained the top position for the past three years, for the first time, light green has taken the lead from medium green.

The old maxim of "any color as long it is black" has gone the way of crank starters. Down at the bottom of the list, just above dark gunmetal, is the old standby. A mere 1 per cent of the new Dodges have been ordered black.

But that's progress.

AND WITH CHRYSLER, too, lime and ivy have done it again.

They are the two most popular colors of automobiles from the Chrysler-Plymouth Division. It was the second consecutive year that these medium "earth tone" green metallics surpassed white as the top color.

A popularity analysis of the 33 colors offered in 1970 showed lime green, a medium metallic shade, as No. 1, with ivy green, a medium metallic, as second choice.

White, which was the top selection of car buyers for many years, continued to be third in popularity, with the blues close behind.

Lime and ivy green got the nod from more buyers of the Plymouth line of Valiant, Belvedere and Fury models and the Chrysler models.

Buyers of the Plymouth Barracuda, however, liked bold colors such as rallye red, lemon twist, blue fire and in-violet to match the car's sporty theme.

Imperial buyers made walnut their No. 1 choice.

Saturday, Oct. 24, 1970 INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM-P.7

S & S Construction has announced a new unit opening at Parkwood, adult-oriented community in Los Alamitos where 38 new homes have been released for sale.

Parkwood boasts a unique concept in living for adults.

Most adults with teenage or grown children suddenly discover themselves roaming around a house that's too large for their needs. Upkeep on a yard becomes a burden instead of a pleasure because they no longer have the time or desire.

Parkwood has something special to offer people looking for an answer to this problem: "minimum maintenance" homes in a small, private community clustered around a $250,000 recreation center.

HOMES at Parkwood are built on cul-de-sacs. Each home has a separate, completely private patio which runs the entire length of the home.

Your private patio is the only land area requiring your care — you may want to plant a Japanese garden or decorate your patio for outdoor entertaining.

Outside your home there are 2½ acres of landscaped common park totally maintained by professionals. And they are just for residents to enjoy.

The Recreation Center at Parkwood boasts many facilities. Circling the clubhouse is a swimming pool and sun bathing-lounge area. You'll find a whirl pool to relax your muscles after a hard day and a barbecue area.

THE TWO-STORY clubhouse includes men's and women's saunas and showers and a pool room. Upstairs there's a luxuriously decorated lounge area with a bar and cooking appliances which may be used for community affairs or for private parties.

Parkwood homes offer two to 4 bedrooms and architectural design features such as high beamed cathedral ceilings, custom designed fireplaces and cantilevered runways.

In addition to the traditional S & S quality construction materials of lath and plaster, other quality appointments include kitchens with "continuous clean" ovens, dishwashers and disposals.

Sinks and tubs are cast iron and ceramic tile is featured in every bathroom. Wall to wall carpeting and Armstrong vinyl flooring are used throughout the house.

The homes are priced from $28,490. Take the San Diego Freeway to Valley View turnoff, continue north to Lampson and south to decorated models.

Builders Are Cautious

come increasingly available and economic activity improves," Buma said.

He added some caution is needed when looking at next year's housing situation in California.

"There is some question whether the state can absorb so many homes — 190,000 conventional, plus 18,000 mobiles — without pushing vacancy rates sharply upward and causing a potential problem of oversupply in 1972. This is a possibility not only because of the sluggishness of the economy, but also because of the noticeable slowing in population growth."

Doubts about the strength of housing demand in the state may have already been recognized by home builders. Of the 125,000 units authorized during the first eight months of the year, actual construction had not yet been started on 22 per cent of these.

"This is an unusually high percentage. Another factor restraining home demand is the continued strong rise in the cost of home purchase, which is effectively pricing a large group of potential buyers out of the market."

BUMA ATTRIBUTED THE CURRENT pickup in housing to several factors, including the massive support provided by various government and quasi-government agencies which are channelling large supplies of funds into the mortgage market.
